U.S. To Expand Pacific Fleet To Full Strength

4,200 Men Will Be Added at Once; Far East Tension Eases.

By The Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—The Navy continued today to prepare for a possible emergency in the Pacific, but a slackening of diplomatic activity appeared to reflect diminished tension generally in administration quarters over the Far Eastern situation.

Secretary Knox announced after talks with high naval strategists during the week that the personnel of the fleet now in the Pacific would be reinforced immediately to raise it to full strength. He said 4,200 men would join the fleet at once and sail back to Hawaii with the warships now on the West Coast undergoing repairs.

At the press conference at which he announced the fleet reinforcement, Knox answered a number of questions concerning the Far East situation.

"Nobody Knows"—Knox.

He said he did not concur in a published statement that the administration feared war with Japan in 15 days. "I don't think anybody knows," he added.

A number of officials showed lessened preoccupation with the Orient as a potential danger spot.

Responsible in some measure for this was Japan's reaction to the British notice that the Burma road would be reopened for supplies to China and also Japanese reaction to the State Department's advice to Americans in the Far East to consider coming home.

There was no apparent tendency in Japan to magnify the Burma road decision as an incident likely to lead to immediate reprisals.

Transport Home.

Secretary Hull was asked at his press conference whether special transportation arrangements were being made to expedite the removal of Americans from the Far East. He replied that the first step was to find out how many wanted to come and that the shipping question would be considered next.

Hull's schedule for the day was free of important diplomatic appointments and less activity was noticeable among other State Department officials concerned with Far Eastern affairs.

APPLICATIONS SWAMP SHANGHAI TRAVEL AGENCIES

SHANGHAI, Oct. 9.—(P)—With passenger lines already heavily booked far in advance, travel agencies and steamship offices were besieged today by Americans fearful of the gathering United States-Japanese crisis in the Orient.

Many American businessmen, accepting the State Department's counsel to get out of the Orient, started liquidation of their holdings and church societies stepped up arrangements to assemble their missionaries who wish to leave at likely points of embarkation.

United States naval and marine officials declined to discuss plans for removal of service families. It was reported, however, that a transport might be sent soon to Shanghai.

Sir Wilfred Grenfell, Famed Doctor, Dies

By The United Press.

CHARLOTTE, Vt., Oct. 9.—Sir Wilfred Thomason Grenfell, founder of the Labrador Medical Mission, and known throughout the world as "the Labrador doctor," died of a heart attack at his home tonight. He was 76.

His secretary, Wyman Shaw, said that Grenfell had been playing croquet and that he lay down on a couch to rest before dinner. He was found dead a few minutes later.

Grenfell had retired from active missionary work in Labrador several years ago because of a heart ailment. He had been living at his summer home, Kinlock house, overlooking Lake Champlain, where he spent the last few years walking in the woods, reading and writing.

Grenfell left England in 1892 to investigate conditions among fishermen of Labrador and New Foundland. Sent there by the Royal National Mission to Deep Sea Fishermen, Grenfell cared for the natives in a hospital set up on his 90-ton ketch Albert.

There never had been a doctor in the country before his arrival, and some of his early operations were performed on the beaches by the light of a kerosene lamp. His first summer's work consisted of treating 900 patients.

The challenge of Labrador was so strong that Grenfell returned the next summer and set up his first cot-

Dykstra Talks With F. D. R. on Directing Draft

Wisconsin President Is Considering Whether He Will Accept Job.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—(P)—Dr. Clarence A. Dykstra, president of the University of Wisconsin, took under consideration tonight the question whether he would accept the job of draft director.

Dykstra conferred with President Roosevelt and Secretary of War Stimson during the day. Talking to reporters afterward, he did not say the post actually was offered him, but asserted that the President had discussed it with him. It was a matter requiring "some considering," he added.

Lieutenant Colonel Lewis B. Hershey has been temporarily directing the military conscription program. Should Dykstra be appointed before October 16, he would supervise the registration and conscripting of men of the ages of 21 through 35.

On another defense front, the senate passed a bill authorizing "home guards" in states whose national guard units are in federal service. The legislation goes back to the house for action on senate amendments, one of which would place the home guard units under supervision of the secretary of war. This change was designed to meet complaints by organized labor that the house-approved measure would have made possible the formation of "vigilante" groups to suppress unions.

Other defense developments: President Roosevelt signed the excess profits tax bill. Besides placing levies on profits in excess of "normal," the measure carries provisions to encourage industrial expansion in the production of defense materials. It permits manufacturers to deduct from their taxable incomes over a five-year period the entire cost of facilities completed for defense purposes after June 10, 1940.

2. Mr. Roosevelt directed the War Department to go ahead with a policy of utilizing the services of Negroes on "a fair and equitable basis" in the defense program.

3. The Navy announced that 15 manufacturers had been authorized to construct, with government funds, additional shipbuilding and ordnance facilities at a total cost of $96,961,146. The government would retain title to the new facilities, but they would be privately operated.

Third Airport In Atlanta Area Sought in Cobb

Work at Camp Gordon Will Probably Begin in 3 Weeks.

A Cobb county location for a third Atlanta-area airport was being sought yesterday, and at the same time it was reported work on the second airport at Camp Gordon probably would begin within three weeks.

Ivan Allen Sr., chairman of the Atlanta Industrial Bureau, announced that his agency was contacting Cobb county officials with strong arguments in behalf of placing the third port there to supply the developing lack of facilities for civilian flying caused by existing congestion at Candler Field and the steadily increasing possibility of capacity demands upon the Camp Gordon field when completed.

A contract for the engineering and architectural work upon the Navy's buildings at the northside airport, consisting of barracks, machine shops, hangars and an administration building, had been awarded yesterday to Robert & Company.

Field Work Here.

Work upon designs will be expedited at the company's Jacksonville office, while field work is done here, in an effort to break ground within three weeks. The Navy already has allocated $102,000 for the purpose, within an ultimate contemplated expenditure of from $700,000 to $800,000.

This initial activity will proceed individually while the regional WPA office here, and various Washington authorities, complete authorization for construction of the actual flying field at Camp Gordon. An estimated maximum of 38 days will be required to finish these preliminaries.

Urging the Cobb county location for the third port, Allen said:

"We are all agreed a third airport must be forthcoming, in view of the threat to civilian flying, to airplane construction and possibly to air transportation here with only two ports.

Should Have Port.

"Cobb county should have this port. It has sites as available to Atlanta as the other two airports." There are certain extremely valuable strategic advantages which it would be premature to discuss now.

First suggestion of Cobb county came Monday from Montgomery Knight, director of the Georgia Tech aeronautical school, who pointed to the possibility of enlarging the existing emergency landing field on the Atlanta-Chicago line, a mile north of Smyrna. County Commissioner Glover Hailey and a party of officials interested in pressing a third airport, will examine a number of proposed north Fulton county sites today.

Policewomen May Be Beautiful Just as Well as Being Dutiful

Atlanta policewomen may be beautiful as well as brave and dutiful, Chief of Police M. A. Hornsby and members of city council's police committee have decided.

There is no reason, they announced, why the policewomen of the future should resemble an auxiliary tank corps, which is more or less what they would look like if the letter and not the spirit of the laws governing the police department was observed.

The ruling was forthcoming yesterday after City Attorney Jack Savage reported that policewomen are under civil service, and the same rules govern their selection as those governing the selection of policemen.

This immediately posed the pretty question that other things

HAND ACROSS BORDER—And it's written in a bold hand, indeed, this greeting from some well-wisher in America to embattled Canada. "Good luck, Canada; take 'em away." It means that American is sending not merely 300 old tanks to train Canadian brigades, but the heart-felt hope that her great and sprawling neighbor to the north can emerge victorious from the conflict with her foes.

4 Die, 9 Injured In Army Truck, Train Accident

Wife of Fort Benning Sergeant, 2 Children Are Victims.

COLUMBUS, Ga., Oct. 9.—(P)—Four persons are dead and nine injured, four critically, as the result of a collision between an army truck loaded with picnicers and a backing freight train on the Fort Benning highway near here tonight. The truck burst into flames after the crash.

The dead are: Mrs. Lawrence P. Lack, wife of a Fort Benning sergeant, burned to death when she was trapped in the cab of the truck.

An eight-month-old boy, son of Private Thomas Powers, of Fort Benning, crushed to death.

Edna May Lack, daughter of Mrs. Lack, who died of injuries at the Columbus city hospital two hours after the accident.

Leroy Lack, son of Mrs. Lack, who also died of injuries at the Columbus hospital, some time after the mishap.

With three members of the family of Sergeant Lawrence P. Lack—Mrs. Lack, a daughter and baby son—dead, three others were injured. Sergeant Lack and another daughter, Doris, 7, are listed as critically hurt, while a son received lacerations and bruises.

Circulars Accuse U. S. Of Frightening Latins

SAN JOSE, Costa Rica, Oct. 9.—(P)—Leaflets circulated here today alleged that the United States was attempting to "frighten Latin America" with the "Nazi bogeyman."

The circulars, origin of which was not disclosed, asserted that the United States had Latin America "enslaved" and was attempting to "entrench imperialism" in the guise of hemisphere defense.

They concluded: "Take care and be alert! Afterward, it may be too late; Germany warned the European nations that they rejected the warning. Something of the same nature is happening in America."

London Gunners Pick Off 9 Out of 11 Flares

LONDON, Oct. 9.—(P)—Air-crew gunners in London last night gave the people one display of accuracy by shooting out nine of eleven flares dropped in one district by Nazi bombers. In that area, while the buildings shook under the crash of a bomb, night workers ducked philosophically under the tables as it exploded.

The International Scene

Nazi bombers, striking from cloudless skies in terrible fury, lashed the heart of London with bombs yesterday and last night, razing and burning centuries-old buildings; many were killed and hundreds maimed; other sections of England also were heavily bombed. Page 1, column 8.

Britain prepared to sever relations with Rumania; Englishmen in that country were preparing to flee, while indications mounted that a Near East offensive by Nazi and Italian troops was in the offing. Page 1, column 7.

The Far East crisis subsided late a burst balloon yesterday after Japan clearly indicated reopening of the Burma road would not call for definite action on her part; this country, however, prepared to place full complements on all warships in the battle fleet, and Americans in the affected area clamored for evacuation ships. ## Japanese Offer Apology For Beating U. S. Sailor

SHANGHAI, Oct. 10.—(Thursday)—(P)—The United States Navy announced today that Major General Miura, commander of the Japanese gendarmes here, had apologized for the arrest and beating of a sailor from the United States cruiser Augusta by Japanese police on September 28.

The announcement said Admiral Thomas C. Hart, commander of the United States Asiatic fleet, received a letter from General Miura expressing the latter's regrets for the "unwarrantable conduct" of the Japanese gendarmes.

New Axis Drive Hinted in Oil Ban on Greece

Near East Campaign Belief of Observers Strengthened.

BUDAPEST, Oct. 9.—(P)—Belief among foreign observers that Germany may be planning an active military campaign in the British-inclined Near East was strengthened today with the announcement of a Rumanian ban on Rumanian oil to Greece and the possibility that it may be extended to Turkey.

Loss of the Rumanian fuel places Greece at a distinct military disadvantage—and would affect Turkey somewhat if the prohibition should be applied to that "guardian of the Dardanelles."

Greece is believed to have no more than two months' reserve supplies. Like Turkey, she lacks refineries and is dependent wholly on imports of finished oil products, and these have been coming mainly from Rumania. She has been getting 128,000 tons and Turkey more than 200,000 tons annually from Rumania.

Turkey would still have a source of supply in Russia. Some observers here express belief the German Reich now is definitely embarked on a Berlin-to-Bagdad expansion theory, aimed at eventually controlling the rich Iraq oil fields, whose production now goes to Britain.

However, such a move to the east would depend on the co-operation of Moscow with Berlin.

LONDON MINIMIZES POSSIBILITY OF 'BREAK'

LONDON, Oct. 9.—(P)—Informed British sources described tonight as "a little strong" the statement by British quarters in Bucharest that a break in British-Rumanian diplomatic relations is "inevitable."

These informants quoted odds about 70 to 30 on the chances of relations being broken off in the next 24 hours and at 95 to 5 on the chances they wouldn't be for the next three weeks.

They acknowledged, however, little information is getting through from Ambassador Sir Reginald Hoare at Bucharest. He has "pretty much of a free hand," they explained, and added it was possible, but not probable, he might sever relations with Rumania without asking counsel from London.

The mere presence of German troops in Rumania is not sufficient cause for a diplomatic rupture, it was asserted, these quarters pointing to the fact that German forces passed through Hungary to get to Rumania, but that there was no question of a break with Hungary.

Death and Ruin Spread Over 40 Areas of City

Germans Bomb Capital in Unending Waves; Blasts Rock Streets.

By The Associated Press.

LONDON, Oct. 10.—(Thursday)—Forty areas of London were showered with high-explosive and incendiary bombs dropped by a steady procession of Nazi warplanes overnight, and among objects struck were a famous church, one of the city's oldest hotels and a promenade known the world over.

There was a mounting list of casualties, including many killed. Simultaneous raids were carried out against Wales, southwest and northwest England. They all were heavy and nothing like the battering London was experiencing.

Early this morning London had a brief respite but the raiders were back again with a concerted effort to pierce the curtain of steel hurled skyward by anti-aircraft batteries.

London Trembles.

Great high-explosive bombs and incendiary "breadbaskets" upset buses, struck at rail lines and spread fire and debris from one end of London to the other.

From northern environs to southernmost tip, the capital trembled with the shock of the exploding bombs and the shuddering crash of an incessant anti-aircraft barrage.

So intense was the din that it was at times almost impossible to tell which noises were those of bombs and which were those of the defensive guns.

(Presumably such old geographical divisions as Mayfair, Westminster, Elephant and Castle, Bloomsbury, and the like, were damaged. Names and locations of the affected districts are not permitted by the censor, however.)

Bomb Upsets Bus.

One employee of the Associated Press reported seeing at least 14 fire bombs fall in a four-mile walk.

One big London bus was upset by a bomb hit which injured a number of passengers and broke the driver's leg. A passing doctor borrowed a bobby's tin hat and set to work treating the victims.

A passenger on another bus, describing a direct hit, said:

"Our driver decided to make for the nearest shelter when things became too hot. We made the archway in front of a well-known building. Then we heard the bombs coming down.

"Most of us were able to fling ourselves to the ground, but some were thrown into the air and against the building.

"Paving blocks, glass and bomb fragments were strewn over a wide area."

(The Germans unloaded bombs of such terrific force that their concussions lifted up fleeing civilians and hurled them into the air.)

African Command Said Under Keitel

LONDON, Oct. 10 (Thursday).

(P)—All the London morning papers today carried Cairo reports saying Nazi General Wilhelm Keitel has taken over the Axis African command, succeeding Italian Marshal Rodolfo Graziani. The change was said to have been a direct result of the October 4 Brenner Pass conference between Adolf Hitler and Benito Mussolini. Keitel, chief of the German high command, attended the conference.

The London press described Keitel as "a master of blitzkrieg strategy."

Record Crowd At Opening of Fair in DeKalb

Four Days of Festivities Are Under Way; Cattle Judging Today.

By CHARLES GILMORE.

It took DeKalb county two months and thousands of dollars to get ready for yesterday, but everyone agreed it was worth the trouble. The third annual Harvest Festival opened in Panthersville to a record crowd.

The day was a huge success from the minute Sheriff Jake Hall, surrounded by five of Decatur's most beautiful girls, blew a whistle that started a 20-car motorcade rolling from the courthouse in Decatur down Candler road to the fairgrounds of the Southwest DeKalb High school.

Four hundred early-comers, including those who had brought prize cattle, thoroughbred horses, examples of patient handicraft and huge jars of pickled what-have-you, greeted the parade at the fairgrounds.

In the background was a midway that surpasses anything the DeKalb County Chamber of Agriculture and Commerce has ever done in the way of Harvest Festivals.

Four days of festivities officially were opened when Earl B. Emrey, president of the chamber, climbed up on a wooden platform. The Chamber High school band, in new uniforms, played. Commissioner Scott Candler introduced Dr. M. D. Collins, superintendent of schools; Robert Watkins, J. C. Holmes and Herbert Rawlins—all local WPA officials who were there to dedicate a new agriculture building for the Southwest school—and the board of trustees of the school.

The speeches lasted 10 minutes. Then more than a thousand persons—young and old—began enjoying a half holiday afternoon at the last minute by Commissioner Candler to insure the event a big opening crowd.

This morning at 10 o'clock experts from the agriculture department at the University of Georgia will begin judging an assortment of cows from the county's 210 dairies, horses from its leading farms, pigeons, chickens, ducks and rabbits. It will be 4-H Club and the Future Farmers of America Day.

Benning Soldier Slain; Brother-in-Law Jailed

SPECIAL TO THE CONSTITUTION. COLUMBUS, Ga., Oct. 9.—A. F. Theford, of Batesville, Miss., is held in the county jail here on a charge of murder following the death in the Fort Benning hospital of Sergeant Euler C. Young, his brother-in-law.

Sergeant Young received fatal injuries in a fight Saturday night on the old Fort Benning road. Theford was arrested.

Sergeant Young, 36, was a member of Company B, 94th Anti-Tank Battalion. He is survived by his wife.

Ramspeck Bill Study Deferred By Committee

Course Adopted Despite Objections of House Members.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—(AP)—A joint house-senate conference committee deferred today until next month further efforts to reach agreement on the Ramspeck bill which would authorize President Roosevelt to bring an estimated 200,000 federal workers under civil service.

The course was adopted despite objections of house members of the committee when the conferees were unable to agree on two amendments in controversy between house and senate.

Both houses had passed the bill and a compromise version drafted by the committee was rejected by the house although the senate had approved it. The house instructed its representatives to insist upon an amendment which would require apportionment of civil service jobs on the basis of an existing state quota system. The senate had rejected the amendment.

Representative Ramspeck, Democrat, Georgia, author of the legislation, and Representative Randolph, Democrat, West Virginia, of the house conferees, said they believed a report in disagreement should have been taken back to both houses rather than "endanger final passage of the legislation."

Court Upholds 'Wife' as Death Trial Witness

Bigamy Charged, Georgian Loses Appeal From Conviction.

Bigamy makes it different. Down through the years Georgia's legal luminaries have held a wife couldn't testify against her husband. They were firm about it, in fact, unanimous. But yesterday a new angle developed.

The court of appeals sustained conviction of voluntary manslaughter against Ed Cartwright, of Columbus, in the death of his stepson, Leroy Davis, 13. Cartwright's wife testified she saw him shoot the boy, and her story had much weight with the jury.

Although she had not seen or heard from her first husband in seven years, the high court held she was illegally wed to Cartwright and therefore her testimony was admissible.

He must serve from one to three years.

Episcopalians Told 'U.S. First' Is Not Sound

America Must Be Interested in World's Welfare, Bishop Says.

(Picture on Page 14.) KANSAS CITY, Mo., Oct. 9.—(AP)—The church leader of 1,750,000 Episcopalians convening a session concerned uppermost with war-created problems, said today "America first" seems plausible but it is not a sound principle in Christian work.

"The only way to make America Christian is to make it interested in the welfare of the world that lies outside its borders," solemnly observed Presiding Bishop Henry St. George Tucker, of Richmond, Va., before an audience of 10,000 at the opening service of the Protestant Episcopal fifty-third triennial convention.

Referring to the international situation, he pointed out: "The great menace to world welfare today is that aggressive nationalism which leads a country to exploit all the rest of the world for its own benefit."

"Christian love knows no boundaries. It transcends differences of race. The spirit that prompts us to do foreign missionary work is the only hope for world-wide peace."

Solons Leaving Capital Until After Election

McNary, Barkley Clash Over Power To Order Business Sessions.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—(AP)—Many members of congress were leaving town tonight on the assumption that little, if any, major legislation would be considered until some time after the general election, November 5, unless an emergency arose.

An indication that the senate already lacked a quorum was seen in the fact that it skipped its usual noon roll call today.

Technically, however, the plans of congress were still uncertain. In the senate there had been proposals for an agreement calling for only perfunctory meetings on Mondays and Thursdays unless Senator Barkley, of Kentucky, the Democratic leader, deemed a real business session necessary and gave notice to members.

But Senator McNary, of Oregon, the Republican leader, objected to this plan. "That is too much power to rest in one man—to determine what constitutes an emergency in these emergency times," McNary declared.

Barkley, crying "politics" at McNary, announced that he planned to seek a recess from this coming Friday until Monday, then would ask another recess until Thursday, to be followed by similar requests on Mondays and Thursdays until November 18. No business would be transacted at these twice-a-week sessions, he said.

McNary replied that such an arrangement would be satisfactory, since on any Monday or Thursday a majority of the senate could prevent further recesses.

Gallup Replies to Criticism By General Hugh Johnson

American Institute of Public Opinion Head Cites Record of Accuracy; Accepts Columnist's Offer To Eat Words If Poll Is Right.

NEW YORK, Oct. 9.—The following statement was issued today by Dr. George Gallup, director of the Gallup Poll, in commenting on a recent attack on the poll by General Hugh Johnson.

"General Hugh Johnson, in an attack on the Gallup Poll, has offered to eat his syndicated column if the poll is correct in forecasting the election in November. I accept the general's offer and will be knocking on his door the morning after election to hold him to his promise if the poll is right."

"Both General Johnson and I write for newspapers, but he is a columnist and I am the conductor of a poll."

"As conductor of a poll, I can only be seriously wrong once. If in any election I make a mistake I am the one committed by the Literary Digest. I may be as exact as that publication."

"But a columnist may be seriously wrong as to his facts—he may be seriously wrong as to his assumptions—he may even be seriously wrong as to his prediction of events or forthcoming elections, yet the public will continue to read his column and, in fact, the column may even be more interesting because of the mistakes committed."

"There has never been a time when the Institute has not been criticized by persons supporting the candidate who is behind. What the general says about us sounds a good deal like what the astounded editors of the now defunct Literary Digest said about us in 1936."

"The Institute does not claim to be infallible. In fact, it has constantly stressed the margin of error which is inherent in any work which involves the sampling process. Nevertheless, the fact remains that the Institute has never erred in five years' time in predicting correctly the winner of any election."

"The Institute's record of accuracy in the 12 national, state and local elections which it has forecast since 1936 is as follows:

Herman Talmadge Visits White House To Extend Support.

By GLADSTONE WILLIAMS. Staff Correspondent. WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—Co-operation of the Talmadge forces in the campaign to elect the Democratic national ticket in November was pledged at the White House here today by Herman Talmadge, son of Governor-elect Eugene Talmadge, of Georgia.

Young Talmadge, who was the manager of his father's successful campaign for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination in the recent Georgia primaries, called at the White House during the day for an informal visit with members of the President's secretarial staff. He left assurance for President Roosevelt that the newly formed state Democratic executive committee is ready to lend full assistance in the election of the Roosevelt-Wallace ticket in Georgia next month.

While at the White House young Talmadge met former Secretary of Agriculture Henry Wallace, the Democratic vice presidential nominee, who had just conferred with the President on the progress of the campaign. He tendered his services to Mr. Wallace as a campaign speaker and the vice presidential nominee expressed a desire to have him deliver speeches in several middle-western states where the campaign is waxing warm.

Suggestions were made by Mr. Wallace that Young Talmadge, who campaigned actively for his father in the recent Georgia primaries, might perform useful service as a campaign speaker in the states of Colorado, Iowa, Nebraska and the Dakotas.

Britain Plans War Reserve Stocks in U. S.

Foodstuffs, Raw Materials Available to America If Needed.

LONDON, Oct. 9.—(UP)—Britain is considering the establishment of a "strategic reserve" of colonial products in the United States, read for trans-shipment to points where they may be needed, it was reported reliably tonight.

Colonial foodstuffs and raw materials for which no market now exists would be stored safely in American warehouses. From there they could be shipped quickly to blockaded countries on the European continent whenever they succeeded in throwing off German domination. Such reserves also would naturally be available to the United States if America's other sources were cut off.

Apart from this project, it was understood the United States is continuing negotiations for 150,000 tons of rubber for war stocks in addition to 85,000 tons already secured through a barter agreement with Britain.

HE'S READY TO GO—This bright-eyed fellow at the Osgood Saunders Nursery has his coat and is ready to go when his mama comes. This nursery, like the Cornelia Moore Nursery on Washington street, is partially supported by the Community Fund. To it every day come 109 little boys and girls, to stay and study if they are old enough, to stay and play if they are little, while their mothers work.

Marietta Housing Sites Are Cleared

Special to THE CONSTITUTION. MARIETTA, Ga., Oct. 9.—Wreckage work began yesterday on the area the Marietta Housing Authority will use for construction of two low-rental housing projects.

Demolition work was launched in the South Waddell street section, where the 108-unit Clay Dwellings for white residents will be located. The Negro project, known as "Fort Hill Homes," will be located in the Cole and Lemon streets area.

Foundation work on both of the projects will be under way by the first of the year, housing officials here said.

March-to-the-Sea Names Are Preserved on Wall

Special to THE CONSTITUTION. SPARTA, Ga., Oct. 9.—When J. H. Coleman, present owner of the old Cheely home at Shoals, on the Ogeechee river banks, finishes remodeling the home, the walls will still bear witness to a visit by Sherman's men during their march to the sea three-quarters of a century ago.

The plundering Yankees, passing this way, spared the Cheely home; used it for quarters. On its plaster walls, though, many inscribed their names in pencil. The names are still legible.

Coleman has removed a section of the wall bearing the old names, will have it framed, and the plaque will hang on the refinished wall.

3,000 Atlanta Businessmen Work for Fund

One of Its Agencies Cares for Children of Working Mothers.

By HAROLD MARTIN.

What, you might inquire with some reason, does an Atlanta corporation executive care about some small, tow-headed moppet with a smudged face and a strident voice who spends his days in a day nursery while his mother is at work?

Nothing, you might answer, but you would be wrong. Some 3,000 of them, the biggest and busiest in town, care enough about the aforesaid moppets and their day nursery, and about the 33 other agencies which make up the Community Fund, to devote a goodly portion of their time to raising money for it.

Go After Donations.

Some of them are making speeches about the Fund. Some of them are pounding the pavements, calling on people and asking for money. They are not accustomed to this sort of job. They are more used to giving than receiving.

But they are going at it anyway, with a curious singleness of purpose. In fact, for the first time in two decades at least, many a man who previously has answered "too busy" when there was a civic project afoot that needed the best executive shoulders to the wheel, has offered his talents in a public cause.

Revival of Civic Spirit. Their getting together on the Fund drive may mean that they will get together on other things. It may mean that the strange, intangible civic spirit that was once typical of Atlanta, dead so long, is born again—but that's another story.

The story today is what these men are working for—rather what one of the 34 different agencies they are working for is and does. A day nursery is a place where the children of working mothers may be cared for during the day. There are two of them, under the aegis of an association called the Sheltering Arms, which receive help from the Community Fund. One is the Osgood Saunders Nursery on Baker street, and the other is the Cornelia Moore Day Nursery on Washington street.

But that is just the bare bones of it.

Good Environment.

It is really a place where not only the moral twig is bent to incline the tree in the right direc-

DO FALSE TEETH

Rock, Slide or Slip?

FASTEETH, an improved powder to be sprinkled on upper or lower plates, holds false teeth more firmly in place. Do not slide, slip or rock. No gummy, gooey, pasty taste or feeling. FASTEETH is alkaline (non-acid). Does not sour. Checks "plate odor" (denture breath). Get FASTEETH at any drug store—(adv.)

tion, but a goodly amount of sunshine, and water and health in the form of good food full of vitamins is administered so that the growth is not only straight, but sturdy.

He may be a "bed baby," a "runaround," a "kindergartner" or a "school child," the four informal classifications into which nursery children are divided. His mother brings him in the morning as she goes to work. Downstairs, before he is ever allowed to join the other children, the head matron checks him over quickly for signs of any disease. If any is found, a nurse makes a second, more thorough check, decides whether he shall go to the hospital, or spend his day in the isolation room at the nursery. Generally, nothing is wrong and the baby goes on upstairs to where a smiling matron takes him in charge.

Fed on Schedule.

He takes off his home clothes and puts on the clean neat nursery clothing, overalls for little boys, dresses for the girls. At 8 o'clock he gets his orange juice and cod-liver oil, to build his bones, and at 9 o'clock he goes to the yard to play. He stays there until 10:30 when he comes in for a bath and a good hot lunch, of tasty foods full of the vitamins and calories any growing youngster needs. He eats, and a few minutes after he is asleep. He wakes within an hour and plays some more and then is dressed to meet his mother as she returns from work.

If he is a kindergartner, he spends part of that time in school. If he is of school age—nurseries take boys up to 10, girls up to 12—he comes in in the morning to get his face washed and his hair combed, comes back in the afternoon for his lunch.

Just Normal Kids.

No silk purses are turned out overnight by the nursery schools. They are loud, but much of their noise is laughter. They fight, but they bear no grudges. They get dirty, but who expects a youngster to stay clean and still be normal.

The main thing is they get the food they need at a nursery. They become familiar with bath tubs and learn to keep their own lockers neat. They learn something of table manners. They learn fair play on the playground and a good deal of the innate selfishness of any young one is sublimated into consideration of others.

They become social instead of anti-social. They get started off in the right direction. They learn how to live together with amiability and consideration at a formative time in their lives when, without the nursery, they would be growing up under the jungle law of the street urchin.

Surely any city can afford to invest its money in such an enterprise. And any businessman who works in such a cause can feel he's doing a good thing for his town.

Hull's Cousin Comes In From Hills to Join Army

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Oct. 9.—(AP)—Cordell Hull's second cousin, Elbert Hull, came over from Fentress county today and joined up with the army.

The clear-eyed mountain lad hitch-hiked into town from his farm home at Shirley, Tenn., where his mother is postmaster, to volunteer for duty in the air corps.

"If we're going to have a war I want to be ready and have plenty of training," he drawled. "Besides, I haven't been around much and I thought the army offered a good opportunity."

Elbert—whose grandfather Lewis Hull was a brother of Secretary of State Cordell Hull's father, Billy Hull—was assigned to the army's air base at Savannah, Ga., and will leave for training tomorrow.

Roosevelt Asks For Harbor Funds

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—(AP)—President Roosevelt urged congress today to appropriate $30,076,000 immediately so that army engineers might begin work on a navigation improvement program to strengthen national defense.

The President asked funds to start 16 of 23 projects authorized by congress in legislation sent to him earlier this week.

Among works for which money was asked were: $490,000 for Charleston Harbor, S. C., and $112,000 for Mobile Harbor, Ala.

No, it wasn't SPEED We were after

THE mighty straight-eight that propels the 1941 Buick CENTURY, ROADMASTER and LIMITED, is, we believe, America's most powerful standard-production automobile engine.

That suggests immediately that here is the instrument of great speed—but the fact is it wasn't speed we were after when we built it.

We were shooting for more efficient use of the fuel you burn—more economy, more power, more pick-up—yes, even easier car handling through less frequent need for shifting.

Above all, we were out to cut through a lot of the complications that feature current automobile design, and give you a simpler, sturdier, less involved mechanism.

Consider, for example, just one quality of this great power plant—the tremendous reserve of power it puts at your command.

At 20 miles an hour this Buick uses

The six-passenger Buick SPECIAL Sedan shown is priced at $1006* only 7.4% of its available power—at 30 only 9.7%—at 50, less than one-sixth, and so on.

You can see for yourself how this tremendous reserve, instantly available for pick-up, eliminates much of your need for shifting to lower gears, hence makes unnecessary any involved device for this purpose.

It does even more—for with all this power, we can use a more economical gear ratio in our standard top speed.

And that means that all the time you travel in high—from 15 miles an hour on up—you are getting the equivalent of overdrive or fourth-speed economy without mechanical complication.

In consequence: miles per gallon go up as much as 10% to 15%.

This husky 165-horsepower giant actually gives more gasoline economy than our 107-horsepower engine of a year ago.

At 50 it consumes no more fuel than the same-sized engine of conventional design drinks up at 30.

The whys and wherefores of such performance are best understood when you have an engine to look at and someone to answer your questions about it.

Here we can say that two things account for all this good—FIREBALL design that gets more power out of every gallon of gasoline and Compound Carburetion that gives your engine two distinct ranges of power.

Each of these is important enough to call for personal investigation.

But get off on the right start early—see your Buick dealer now about the year's most important engineering advance.

Assignment of Major General Lloyd R. Fredenhall to command the Fourth Division at Fort Benning was announced yesterday by the War Department in Washington.

Now on duty with the infantry section of the Fifth Division at Fort Sheridan, Ill., General Fredenhall is expected to report to his new command about October 16.

He will succeed Brigadier General Walter E. Prosser, who has been ordered to the Panama Canal Department.

General Fredenhall was born in Cheyenne, Wyo., was commissioned a second lieutenant in 1907, and served in France during the World War as instructor and then director and commander of training schools. He has held his command at Fort Sheridan since December, 1939, and was promoted from brigadier to major general last October 2.

The Fourth Division, which has its own encampment on the Benning reservation, is the army's only motorized division.

Transfers of Lieutenant Colonel Neil S. Edmond, infantry, from Fort Francis E. Warren, Wyo., to Fort Benning, of Lieutenant Colonel George A. Lockhart, quartermaster corps, from Fort Des Moines to Fort Benning, of Captain Henry Clarence Winn from Manchester, N. H., to Fort Jackson, S. C., and of Captain Leland M. Mower, quartermaster corps, from Washington, D. C., to Fort Benning, were also announced in army orders issued in Washington.

AIR CORPS SQUADRON AT FORT BENNING
FORT BENNING, Ga., Oct. 9.—First contingent of three air corps squadrons that have been ordered to Fort Benning's Lawson Field for permanent station has reached the post, it was announced at post headquarters. When all three have arrived the Air Corps will have added 64 officers and 616 enlisted men to the strength of the Fort Benning garrison.

The earliest arrivals, one officer and 77 enlisted men, came by rail with baggage and ground personnel from Barksdale Field, La. They are part of the 15th Observation Squadron (light), which is under the command of Captain John P. Doyle.

The present strength of the 15th is 16 officers and 192 enlisted men. Its eventual strength will be 26 officers and 192 enlisted men. Attached to it are 11 enlisted men of the Ordnance Department.

The remainder of the squadron is expected to arrive by private transportation within the next few days. The eight planes at present assigned will be ferried in Saturday or Monday.

It was also announced that the remainder of the 16th Observation Squadron from Pope Field, Fort Bragg, N. C., will arrive soon at Lawson Field for permanent station.

One flight of the 97th will be attached to the Infantry school at Fort Benning, taking the place of Flight "B" of the 16th. The rest of the 97th will be attached to the Fourth Division.

The entire 16th Observation Squadron will be attached to the Second Armored Division, but Flight "B" of this squadron will not join them in the divisional role until the 97th arrives from New York.

PRIVATES ADVANCED TO GRADE OF CORPORAL

FORT BENNING, Ga., Oct. 9.—Upon recommendation of their organization company commanders, Privates First Class Johnny W. Weaver and Lawrence H. Green, Headquarters Company, 66th Armored Regiment, were advanced to the grade of corporal.

Football Film Among Movies To Open Here

Divorce Drama, Thriller Included in This Week's Offerings.

By LEE ROGERS.

Football lovers get a break in the movie bill opening today and tomorrow which should make up for there being no football game here Saturday.

"Knute Rockne, All American" opens at the Fox theater tomorrow with Pat O'Brien as Rockne. "I Want a Divorce," which will open at the Paramount tomorrow, is an excellently presented drama which will provide food for thought, as well as entertainment, regardless of whether you're for divorcees or against them. Joan Blondell has the lead.

Opening at the Roxy today is George Brent's "The Man Who Talked Too Much." The Capitol jumped ahead of the other theaters yesterday, opening with the thriller, "The Mummy's Hand," said to outshine "Frankenstein." "Strike Up the Band" will remain for another week of Judy Garland singing at the Grand and "The Howards of Virginia" will unveil its story of American independence for a third week at the Rialto.

Gene Autry in "Radio Ranch" is at the Atlanta.

Fox

The biography of the best known man in football, the late Knute Rockne of Notre Dame is told in the Fox theater feature opening tomorrow—"Knute Rockne, All American."

Beginning with the arrival of the immigrant Rockne in the United States, this Warner Brothers film, produced with the aid of Mrs. Bonnie Rockne, the coach's widow, traces Rockne's career through all its football career as player and coach right up to the time of his death—in an airplane crash.

Pat O'Brien plays Rockne and Gale Page, his wife. Ronald Reagan appears as George Gipp and the Four Horsemen play themselves.

Paramount

Joan Blondell drops comedy for a really dramatic role and her real life husband, Dick Powell, forgets singing to match Joan's dramatic endeavors as her real life hubby in the film, "I Want a Divorce," beginning at the Paramount theater tomorrow.

The story tells dramatically what happens in one family when outside friends succeed in breaking up a happy home. It brings in all the ramifications of divorce, affects the grandparents, the sister, the child, the close family friends and ends finally in the suicide of the girl who thinks she can live her own life without any regard to other people. Gloria Dickson plays the divorcee.

Idea for this story was obtained from a Los Angeles divorce court unique among marriage breakers in that it seeks to bring about reconciliation. Incidentally, all members of the adult cast have been divorced in real life.

Capitol

The Capitol theater currently is offering "The Mummy's Hand," made by the same studio which brought forth the chill-shivers with "Frankenstein" and "Dracula."

Featured in the cast are Dick Foran, Eduardo Ciannelli, and Peggy Moran. Tom Tyler, cowboy star, is cast as the mummy.

Roxy

When production started on "The Man Who Talked Too Much," starring George Brent and Virginia Bruce, which opens today at the Roxy for three days, David Bruce bemoaned his fate. His brief appearance is as the unjustly accused boy sent to the electric chair by George Brent early in the picture.

"I don't mind going to the hot seat," he said, "but does it have to be so early in the picture?" Brent consoled him by pointing out that Richard Barthelmess was getting the worst of it. As the gangster who hires Brent as his mouthpiece, he eventually is confronted by justice in the form of a squad of policemen taking shots at him. "To insure realism, eight expert marksmen 'shoot' at him. 'And I'll bet Dick isn't going to have to pretend to be scared,'" said Brent.

Loew's

Judy Garland and Mickey Rooney will remain at the Loew's Grand theater for another week. "Strike Up the Band," a musical, is the vehicle, which during the past week has pleased so many Atlantians.

The film is light with plenty of music, plus Paul Whiteman and most of his band. Intermingled

Laxative That Will Pep Up Lazy Insides

Here's a time-tested way to relieve constipation! It is easy to take and easy on your lazy intestines if you'll do this:

Take spicy, aromatic BLACK DRAUGHT by directions at bedtime. Wash it down with a drink of water. And, there you are! You generally get a good night's rest in the morning this purely vegetable medicine usually acts gently, thoroughly; relieves constipation's headaches, bad breath, sour stomach, loquacity.

Chief of BLACK-DRAUGHT'S ingredients is an "intestinal tonic-laxative" that helps impart tone to bowel muscles. 25 to 40 doses: 25¢ (adv.)

REFUGEE—Miss Florrie Nadel, refugee from the Nazi regime, plays the feminine lead in "The American Way," opening at 8:15 o'clock tonight in the Municipal Auditorium. In the play, she portrays a German immigrant.

with this gayness is a deeper, more sentimental theme of the relationship of a son and his mother which at times is overdone, but which never less has proven popular with most audiences, judging from the number of tears shed.

Feature of the comedy is Judy and Mickey's Gay Nineties show and their dancing of the Conga.

Rialto

"The Howards of Virginia" opens its third and positively last week at the Rialto theater tomorrow.

Co-starring Cary Grant and Martha Scott, this is a romance of America in the days when Washington was leading his army in its struggle for independence from the British crown. It tells the story of a family which carves a home out of the then backwoods territory of the Shenandoah, a family begun with the marriage of a rough, crude sort of pioneer and the daughter of one of the proudest Tory families of old Virginia.

The picture, made by Columbia, was directed by Frank Lloyd and, in addition to its romantic appeal, is one of the most stirring patriotic documents ever to reach the screen. It is immensely valuable at this time in strengthening that patriotism that must become the prime emotion of all Americans if this democracy is to survive in a totalitarian world.

Chamber Asks Superhighway Via Gainesville

Route Urged to Connect Greenville, S. C., and Atlanta.

GAINESVILLE, Ga., Oct. 9.—(AP)—The Chamber of Commerce here began plugging this week for a "four-lane super-highway" to connect Atlanta, Ga., and Greenville, S. C.

Specifically, the Gainesville organization wants the highway constructed via Route 13 by way of both Gainesville and Toccoa. "One of the first defense expenditures will be at Camp Gordon (Atlanta) where several hundred thousand dollars is scheduled to be spent for a Navy training base for airplanes," a bulletin stated in outlining the road proposal.

"Coming out of Atlanta on Route 13 will be shortest way and will further overload that traffic artery. Since near Gainesville another air training base is planned, the National Guard camp is unlikely to be built there. Toccoa and Cornelia, and so much rapid industrial development is taking place in communities like Gainesville and Toccoa, all along Route 13, together with development in South Carolina, it seems appeals for a wider highway should be listened to more than ever."

Arrangements were being made here for a committee to present the question to state highway executives, federal officials and congressional representatives from Georgia and South Carolina.

Patriotic Play Opens Tonight In Auditorium

Rawlinson Has Lead Role in 'The American Way.'

"The American Way," the dramatic story of independent and free America by Moss Hart and George Kaufman, will open its Atlanta run at 8:15 o'clock tonight in the municipal auditorium under auspices of the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

In the lead roles are Herbert Rawlinson, veteran stage and screen star, and Miss Florrie Nadel, of the original Broadway company which starred Fredric March and his wife, Florence Eldridge.

In connection with the Atlanta engagement of the show, which will continue through Sunday night, Governor Rivers and Mayor Hartsfield have declared this week as "The American Way Week."

The Atlanta Company, which includes many Atlantians in the minor roles, is directed by Arthur Seeling, who several years ago directed the Junior League Folies here. The play will be repeated each night through Sunday with matinees Saturday and Sunday. Matinees will be at 2:30 o'clock.

Strictly patriotic in theme, Kaufman and Hart have written into their lines the feelings of an immigrant couple who leave Germany and come to the United States seeking freedom and a chance to make a happy life for themselves. However, in war years and in modern times they find the old military life of the old country catches up with them in the form of the German-American band and other non-American groups. Theirs is a stirring and heart-rending story of why the American Way of life meant so much to them.

The Georgia State Girls' Military band will act as ushers for the performances.

Economic Reasons Behind War—Cox

Declaring that the war in Europe is being fought for economic reasons and to determine "whether private capitalism or state capitalism will triumph," President Harvey W. Cox, of Emory University, spoke yesterday to the school's reorganized business administration department.
"This nation, as an industrial nation, has a great responsibility in world affairs. Students of business, as they assumed positions in industry, can become a powerful force in building American democracy and in extending its influence," he said.
Dr. Cox pointed out that, in his opinion, "one of the serious difficulties of this country today is that many people want to get more than they earn. The good businessman or the good citizen earns more than he gets."

Court Frees Man Of Theft Charges

An indictment returned last August against W. J. Henderson, of Boston, Mass., charging larceny of the car of Alec B. Simon, English-born musician, who resides on Huntington road, was nolle prossed yesterday in Fulton court by Judge A. L. Etheridge.
Henderson represented a Boston finance company, which sent him to Atlanta to repossess Simon's car. The musician declared all his notes to the finance company were properly paid and in order and called police to find his missing car. Henderson, it was said, had located the machine and started to Boston with it without notifying Simon. State patrolmen caught him near Gainesville. Judge Etheridge was told Simon did not wish to prosecute Henderson.

Dover Strait Whipped By Southwesterly Gale

LONDON, Oct. 9.—(P)—A wild southwesterly gale which raged all day in the Straits of Dover showed no signs of abating to night. Rough seas were still running.
Rain clouds were gathering over the French coast, but the English side was clear and visibility was fair.

A Three Days' Cough is Your Danger Signal

Chronic bronchitis may develop if your cough, chest cold, or acute bronchitis is not treated and you cannot afford to take a chance with any medicine less potent than Creomulsion which goes right to the seat of the trouble to help loosen and expel germ laden phlegm and aid nature to soothe and heal raw, tender, inflamed bronchial mucous membranes.
Creomulsion blends beechwood creosote by special process with other time tested medicines for coughs. It contains no narcotics.
No matter how many medicines you have tried, tell your druggist to sell you a bottle of Creomulsion with the understanding you must like the way it quickly allays the cough, permitting rest and sleep, or you are to have your money back. (Adv.)

Take Offensive If War Comes, Stirling Urges

U. S. Fleet Should Speed to Singapore Then, He Says.

By REAR ADMIRAL YATES STIRLING JR.
(Copyright, 1940, by United Press)
NEW YORK, Oct. 9.—(UP)—If Japan should go to war with the United States, it does not seem likely that she would send her fleet against ours where it is now based, in Hawaii. That distance is too great for many of her major fleet units, at least until she can secure a base in the western Pacific.
What then would be Japan's likely move?
Cruiser and airplane carrier raids might be expected both on our Pacific coast cities and upon our fleet and its Pearl Harbor base. In addition, Japan has more than 30 big submarines capable of operating across the Pacific and these undoubtedly would try to "whittle down" our battle fleet and disrupt our commerce.

Carry Fight to Enemy.
Once involved in a war with Japan, it would seem wisest for us to prosecute the war to the utmost and carry the fight to the enemy as soon as possible. No useful service would be served in holding our battle fleet away from Oriental waters unless it is more urgently needed elsewhere.

If the decision is to take the offensive with our fleet and enter the Orient, the fleet must start in time to save Singapore for our fleet's use, and Hongkong also if possible. A major operation with troops would be necessary to drive Japan from these bases if once they passed into her hands.
Singapore should hold out for two months, if not longer. Steaming time for our fleet from Hawaii, by the longer but safer route, would be 27 days at 12 knots. With fueling and delays, probably six weeks would be required. This route would be through the Phoenix islands, Fiji islands, New Hebrides, past the northern tip of Australia and Bali and across the Java sea to Singapore. On this route, of 7,600 miles, we could expect the support of British and Dutch air forces and could obtain oil for the fleet at British and Dutch islands.

More Dangerous.
The direct route, by way of Guam and the Philippines, would be 1,500 miles shorter but would be subject to almost continuous attack by Japanese submarines and airplanes.

Once Singapore is occupied by our fleet and we are assured of safe communications for the needs of the fleet, then a blockade would be begun. This probably would entail the use of Manila as an advanced base for cruisers, destroyers, submarines and airplanes—the instruments of blockade.
The navies opposed to each other in case of war are about equal in submarine, destroyer and cruiser strength. The United States has a slight edge in the number of battleships, and ours are more heavily armored, of greater steaming radius, and probably more highly trained, especially in gunnery. Our aircraft carrier force has fewer carriers, but if comparisons made by air experts can be believed, our airmen are considerably better than the Japanese.

Warning To Tokyo

If Tokyo needed any more answer to its belligerency than the speech last week of Secretary of the Navy Knox, it found it Monday in press dispatches from Washington. Rear Admiral Harry E. Yarnell, U. S. N., retired, one-time commander of the Asiatic squadron, sat in with Admiral J. O. Richardson, commander-in-chief of the battle fleet, and Chief of Naval Operations Admiral Harold R. Stark, in a discussion of "the situation in the Pacific."

Whatever the Japanese vernacular, the American translation of Yarnell's Tokyo nickname is "Poison."

Yarnell is the navy's top expert on Far Eastern affairs and ranks with Joseph Grew, United States Ambassador to Japan, in his knowledge of the Japanese people and their reaction to the nuances of international diplomacy.

It was his firm and sometimes tough attitude toward the Japanese in the early days of the Chinese-Japanese war that kept American and British gunboats on the Yangtze and maintained, so far as it was possible, foreign prestige in the embattled sectors. Innumerable other attempts to break the tenuous foothold of western influence were sharply rejected by the doughty admiral, leaving this country the basis from which it may now undertake firm action against the Asiatic aggressors.

Since his retirement, Yarnell has used his freedom of expression to build public sentiment for the Chinese and to direct American thought in channels rejecting appeasement of the Nipponese military clique. He consistently has advocated increased economic pressure against Japan, more aid to China, larger concentrations of American power in the Philippines and, even, war against the Japanese if that becomes necessary to halt the expansion of empire sired by aggression.

It must be emphasized that Admiral Yarnell is more than a navy man. He is a diplomat in the finest sense of the word, and during the crises in the early days of China's travail his on-the-spot actions had the fullest support of the American State Department. He was, in fact, a de facto ambassador operating in the center of warfare. Nelson T. Johnson, ambassador to China, was at that time in Nanking, and Grew, of course, in Tokyo.

This must be contrasted with the voices of appeasement lately heard about the land in which the basis for the plea came from casual survey trips to the Far East, and from sources which in the past have been granted extraordinary privileges in Japan.

The very presence of Yarnell at the conference far overshadows the second hurried trip of Admiral Richardson to Washington, and strongly indicates that affirmative action to halt the unbridled aggression of Japan in the Far East is at hand. The confusion in high offices in Washington apparently is being resolved in a direction which will call for action on the part of this country compatible with its world responsibilities.

Revealing Writings

The apparent disappearance, and return, of Richard Boyer, correspondent for PM, the New York newspaper, may have been nothing but a simple, personal mix-up of engagements. For a few hours there were suspicions that the Gestapo, Nazi secret police, had dared to openly flout the law, in this country. However, at this writing, these suspicions seem to have been groundless.

The incident, however, will serve a good purpose in giving wider attention to the series of articles Boyer, recently returned from Germany, is now writing for his publication.

Boyer's articles have been piercing in their portrayal of a German people hating the war, fatalistically declaring that it would never end in victory, the memories of 1914-18 too vividly fresh. They have recounted the food shortages, the lack of adequate clothing, the slow starvation of the remaining Jews, the hatred of the decent common people toward their masters. Nothing like them has come out of Germany in this regime. They obviously were the contribution of a newspaper which did not intend sending another reporter into Germany for the duration of this conflict. This freed Boyer from the restrictions confronting any other reporters sent to Germany, representatives of press services or of individual newspapers forced to accept the restrictions to obtain even the modicum of news now permitted to be sent out.

PM still has available the reports of a press service, however, and it will be interesting to follow the attitude of the German government toward that service in view of the action of a subscribing paper.

If Boyer's temporary disappearance, when he was to have spoken on a radio program, is linked to the activities of any German group in this country, whether legal or extra-legal, the demands for the restriction of their activities will receive a sharp impetus.

Indeed, there is no reason why they should not be, now that the Axis powers have declared their hostility toward this country and its championship of the only remaining decencies in the world.

In New Jersey, an august court requires the lady barrister to remove her hat. This, in turn, raises a nice legal point: Is the modern hat a hat?

Tragedy of Procrastination

If, as now seems possible, Atlanta is to lose all civilian flying because of lack of airport facilities, it will be one of the most tragic incidents the city has suffered since the days of reconstruction.

There is probability, it has been stated, because of the needs for airport space and conveniences for the Army and Navy air squadrons which are to be located here, all civilian flying will be barred from Candler field.

There is, everyone knows, a new flying field yet to be built on the old Camp Gordon site. This, however, is for the Naval squadron and it is extremely unlikely there will be room or equipment for civilian flying there. The Army air division has already asked for considerable acreage at Camp Gordon and expanding defense needs may require all of that field.

The next nearest field to the city is at Smyrna, 25 miles away, where there is an emergency landing field. Tremendous work would have to be done there to make it fit for regular use.

Atlanta is now brought sharply before a situation which need never have come about had the city possessed a reasonable quota of the vision and the spirit that used to be its boast. For years the authorities and the entire city have been warned, time and again, that drastic improvement of airport facilities should be made, at once, if this city is to retain its position as aerial hub of the southeast. Little attention was paid to these warnings. Some small and inadequate steps were taken, but there was a general tendency to say, "Yes, we see the need—but it is not urgent for a few days at least, let's go to the mountains for the weekend."

Now the emergency is here. Not tomorrow or the next day, but today. If Atlanta doesn't act, at once, the day may be close at hand when all the vast network of air lines which have centered on this city will be taken away and we'll be left, in so far as air routings are concerned, like a little town too unimportant to warrant a stop of the railroad.

Nothing ever demonstrated, so forcefully, the need for Atlanta to wake up and retake her place as the most aggressive city in the southeast.

According to Funk, the Nazi fiscal wizard, future prospectors, when they strike gold, will rush rapidly away from the scene.

We come gradually to that point in the lovely autumn season when the young poet's brother must begin to think about raking the leaves.

Striding across the world at this writing were the Three Musketeers—Adolf, Benito and Japan—with the Fuehrer sounding the watchword, "One for all, and two for me."

Relations between ourselves and tough Tokyo deteriorate steadily—though not yet to the point of renaming the kimono the liberty negligee.

Editorial Symposium

WILLIE IN MICHIGAN

"Mr. Roosevelt has been quick to stigmatize the attempts at violence to which Mr. Willie has been subjected in Michigan," says the NEW YORK TIMES, which adds: "The brutalities he denounces are not personal to Mr. Willie. They are offenses against free speech, against two-party rule and against the long American tradition of political fair play and decency." And the WASHINGTON STAR sees fair play as "one of the inherent characteristics of the American citizen."

It is because fair play is the rule in this country that the several unseemly incidents which greeted the Willie party in Detroit and Pontiac stand out as newsworthy exceptions. The HARTFORD COURANT believes that "Not Mr. Willie but democracy was harmed by the missile hurled during his tour of Michigan. Democracy has ceased to live when men are no longer willing to argue quietly and to differ tolerantly." In the same vein, the PHILADELPHIA INQUIRER sees "The hoodlums who smeared Norman Thomas with eggs at a North Jersey rally are one with the gentle lady who bombed the Willie parade with a wastebasket."

All we making free speech their real target." "But the hoodlums who threw the eggs may have thought they were merely following an illustrious precedent," the DENVER POST remarks. "The President for years has been tossing verbal eggs" at a lot of people who dared disagree with him. And, speaking of Mr. Roosevelt and the egg-throwers, the EMPORIA GAZETTE declared: "A man who attracts that kind of followers should assuredly allow them freedom in the only answer their hearts can make or their brains conceive to the questions of the hour which Mr. Willie raises."

THE CAPITAL PARADE

By JOSEPH ALSOP AND ROBERT KINTNER.

JOHN LEWIS GETS HIS WISH WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—As though tossing a haddock to a fractious sea lion, the President has suddenly offered partial satisfaction of one of the basic demands of John L. Lewis. By a ruling of Attorney General Robert H. Jackson, defense contracts have been made dependent on obedience by the contractors to the National Labor Relations Board. Since the desperately slow defense program is thus likely to be further delayed, an uproar has ensued.

Although it looks like the kind of thing that usually happens just before elections, this event's history actually started in an opera bouffe scene at the Capitol more than a year ago. For some time, Lewis had been pushing a bill, requiring all government contractors to abide by the orders of all government labor agencies. He killed it when he and his left-wing aides marched up to the hill established themselves in the speaker's office and enraged the house by grandly summoning members to receive their orders. And he then began the unceasing pressure on the President which has finally got him what he wanted without legislation.

HILLMAN HAS TROUBLE The siege of the White House opened, in fact, only a few days after Lewis' failure in the house, when he and his then ally, Sidney Hillman, went to the White House to demand that the substance of the Lewis bill be embodied in an executive order. The President heard Lewis out amiably, waited a while before replying, and finally wrote Lewis that he lacked the legal authority to issue the order requested. Lewis stamped and roared in his best manner, but as Lewis' stamping and roaring were already becoming over-familiar, nothing further happened until the emergency defense program got under way this spring. It was the defense program which gave Lewis his chance.

In order to understand the nature of the chance, it is necessary to understand Lewis' changing situation. Because of his bitter quarrel with the President, his almost exclusive dependence on extreme left-wing groups, and his uncompromising violence in the CIO-AFL rumple, Lewis is losing his leadership, even in the CIO. While Lewis is growing weaker, Hillman, now a defense commissioner and a Lewis crony no longer, and Philip Murray of the steel workers' organizing committee, are steadily increasing their influence. As defense commissioner, Hillman has had to handle defense program labor problems. With informal help from Murray, he has managed to settle several big and intensely dangerous threatened strikes, such as that of the industrial union in the steel industry.

At first, however, he failed to tackle the problem of such corporations as Bethlehem Steel, which have disregarded National Labor Relations Board orders pending appeal to the courts. No logical reason has yet been cited for using the defense emergency as a crowbar to jimmy the lid off the status quo. The threat of grave delays in production, now likely to materialize, was a reason on the other side. Hillman's failure gave Lewis a good talking point. It was intimating and Hillman and Murray were selling labor down the river, by failing to force defense contractors in compliance with NLRB orders. This talk took, at least to the extent of frightening Hillman and Murray.

COUNTRY'S LOSS Hillman and Murray warned both the President and Congress that if immediate concessions were not made the belligerently non-co-operative Lewis would be restored to effective leadership of the workers. No one can tell whether more weight was given to the Hillman-Murray argument, or to Lewis' loud and frankly political threats. At any rate, a strike not authorized by Murray broke out in one of the Bethlehem Steel plants, forcing a decision. The President and the defense commission decided in favor of conceding to the defense contractors a regulation was issued, requiring compliance with NLRB, wage-hour division and other government labor agencies orders by defense contractors. And a couple of days later the Jackson opinion, undoubtedly prepared at the President's command, was published to clinch the matter.

Amid the outcry, it is a little difficult to disentangle the conflicting notices. Attorney General Jackson appears to be in the clear, since his ruling was wholly dependent on the previous Hillman-inspired action of the defense commission. He simply interpreted the law. But as to Hillman, for example, it is difficult not to ask whether, in addition to his stated reasons, he was not also moved by the memory of how he built his own union in a war-time emergency, and by a desire to repeat the same feat now for the whole labor movement. And as to the President, it is hard not to wonder whether he did not have the oncoming election somewhat in mind.

Certainly something queer somewhere is suggested by the hasty crawling of all concerned.

By RALPH T. JONES.

Education

And Democracy

This nation has invested many billions of dollars in its education plant. Schools, college and universities dot every state, and the boy or girl who complains about impossibility of getting an education is really confessing to lack of initiative and of willingness to try, in the own personality.

Today, with the crisis that faces the very root theory of democracy, it is tremendously important that Americans be so imbued with knowledge of their own country, with patriotism and with understanding of all that democracy is, all it implies and all it may be, that they shall be eager to do anything, sacrifice anything, give everything for their country's cause and for their country's ideals.

There have been indications that, in some places at least, the trend of higher education has been such as not to imbue in students that deep love of country which must live in the hearts of all its people if any nation is to survive and to grow great. There have been evidences of a flippancy to false sophistication that believes it is smart to joke about, and snicker at, nobility of character and the finer emotions.

Too many of our young men in the colleges and institutions have expressed determination never to fight for their country, no matter how just the need. Many have said they would not take up arms even though America was invaded.

That, of course, was true in England, before the emergency came. Today it is to be doubted if an Englishman could be found who would not gladly give all he possesses, including his life, to fight against the foe.

Undoubtedly, if similar emergency came to this country, such things as the satiric "Veterans of Future Wars" and so forth, would be forgotten.

Education Must

Consider Itself

However, there must be something wrong with an educational system that creates such young cynics. Freedom of education and of thought is as important to democracy as freedom of religion, freedom of speech and freedom of the press. Yet, there is a point where freedom, in any guise, becomes license, and when freedom of education results in destroying the inborn patriotism of our young people it approaches close to license.

In the same way that freedom of the press verities itself to the nation, it permits other subversive forces which seek to destroy all the freedoms of democracy.

What We Can Do

It is essential, today, that all Americans, native-born and adopted, shall be imbued with a burning love of country, and a burning sense of duty. We need to reawaken the spirit that animated the founders of the nation, the spirit that inspired the closing words of the Declaration of Independence:

FAIR ENOUGH

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Anent Perkins NEW YORK, Oct. 9. It appears that we are about to observe an attack on Wendell Willkie as an enemy of American democracy because he advertised to the notorious incompetence and general unfitness of the deplorable Mrs. Perkins for the position of secretary of labor and went so far as to say that here was a job for a man. I do not know how much further Mr. Willkie will have the candor and audacity to go in this direction, but if he will slip me the ball I will carry it for a long gain, because the professional politicians rank high in the list of American abominations and is a pernicious nuisance who has imposed on the natural chivalry of the race to escape the criticism which she deserves.

A candidate for the presidency will be unfairly shackled in any attempt to do justice to this theme, for the female of the species does not submit to judgment on her merits as a public official but instinctively raises the equivalent of the old cry which has touched off so many deep south lynchings.

The truth is that, after all, these years and after all the straggling propaganda, which most of us remember only dimly now, women in politics and office have contributed nothing to the political morality of the nation or its subdivisions. They have been just so many more sordid and selfish Democrats and Republicans—no worse, on the average, than the males but certainly no better. They have failed to live up to their early billings as a purifying moral force who would pretty up politics by hanging chintz and pulling places and substituting hand-painted gobbons for tawdry papier mache and enamel ware.

Just As

Crooked

In Chicago and Kansas City the election frauds proved that women ward heelers and precinct workers were just as crooked as the buck Democrats with whom they collaborated in the dirty work of the reigning gangs. In the United States congress no woman has ever made any notable contribution to the common good, and Mrs. Mary Norton, of New Jersey, who enjoys a very good press because she wears the union label as a political badge, is no exception. The political creature of Frank Hague, who refused even to let the CIO hire a hall or hold a meeting in a park.

Mrs. Norton's political patron has had notorious dealings with mercenary labor skates of the AFL, one of whom, out of the priestly poverty of a selfless unioner, personally dug up $60,000 in one hunt to settle Hague's income tax. This impressive arrearage had been amassed by Mrs. Norton's political boss on a salary which never has exceeded $7,500 a year. Mrs. Norton thus, notwithstanding the reputation which chivalrous forbearance has permitted her to acquire, is seen to be, in fact, only another boss-elected member of congress with what noble yearnings we do not know but no more civic virtue than any trousered member of the same low political kind.

Political, Not Feminine

The kind of women who do become prominent politicians are more political than feminine. By the time they rise to power they are deprived of the inherent special virtue which women were supposed to bring to politics due to their long association with the men. They have learned to play politics the men's way. Otherwise they would not get there. And, of course, because the males are still overwhelmingly more numerous in politics and in office, the presence of a woman in an important post creates embarrassment and needless annoyance. The woman in this role is a political and personal affliction. She is in unnatural surroundings and must be deferred to for reasons deep in the nature of human beings, even when she is absurdly and dangerously wrong.

I would like to add, too, that most of the women who are active in politics are officious and rather sallow in personality and temperament after long detachment from the office which nature appointed for woman kind. That observation, however, is only esthetic, not political.

The bottom fact of the matter is that women politicians have failed to elevate the political morals of the country, and in those few representatives of their sex who have been raised to distinguished office have given us no improvement over the conscience and ability of the standard type of male political hawk. They have shown a net loss, for they have tarnished a very pretty illusion which would still be among our spiritual treasures had they been content merely to talk about what they might have done.

ONE WORD MORE

By RALPH MCGILL.

AID FOR GERMANY—1847 Presidential papers, especially those of the late Calvin Coolidge, are dull reading. There are, however, sparks, especially in those of the early days of our republic.

(Quite incidentally, the presidential papers demonstrate that Silent Cal was perhaps the most garrulous and loquacious of all our presidents.)

On reading the papers of old Zachary Taylor, whose stomach could care for the hardback and the bad cooking of the battle camps but not that of the new city of Washington, one comes across this, in his opening message to the congress:

"Shortly after I had entered upon the discharge of the executive duties I was apprised that a war steamer belonging to the German empire was being fitted out in the harbor of New York with the aid of some of our Naval officers, rendered under the permission of the late secretary of the Navy. This permission was granted during an armistice between that Empire and the Kingdom of Denmark, which had been engaged in the Schleswig-Holstein war. Apprehensive lest this act of intervention on our part might be viewed as a violation . . ."

Old Zach Taylor stopped what had been a plan to give aid to Germany in the war against the Kingdom of Denmark—

Because, of all things—

Germany planned such a democratic form of government James K. Polk wanted to help them win.

(Germany did achieve it. It should not be forgot the Kaiser severely was criticized in the German Reichstag but a few days before the first World War began. Imagine anyone criticizing Hitler in the puppet Reichstag of today.)

AIDING DEMOCRACY Germany was carrying on the war with Denmark in an effort to bring about a confederation of states. Denmark had defeated Germany in an earlier war and might have won this one had not the defense of the nation been allowed to lag. Germany had produced rifled cannons. Denmark retained the old-fashioned smooth-bore type.

The United States did not care a great deal for France or England. Those countries were monarchial in their government. The flame of independence burned brightly in those days in America.

Germany was talking about elections and a Reichstag which would do the real governing. James K. Polk, then President, and his secretary of the navy, wanted to help Germany win the war and go ahead with their democratic processes.

For this reason Germany was given permission to use the New York navy yard. They also were allowed to buy a cruiser constructed by the navy yard and to go ahead with making her over into a man-of-war. American naval experts supervised the work.

Naturally there was much criticism. The Danish envoys properly complained and protested. But President Polk was firm.

"The people of the United States have a very sincere feeling of friendship for the German people," he said. He declared his enthusiasm for the proposed plan to establish a federation of independent German states was strong because it would assist in preserving the freedom of the seas. There was a masked slap at England here, Americans still remembering how England had stopped ships of the United States and taken seamen off them for service in English ships.

DESTROYER DEAL—1847 Baron Von Roenne was the German representative at this period in American history.

Like the English representatives of a few months ago, he went to President Polk and declared that Germany was in immediate need of ships.

After a conference it was agreed that Germany should have permission to buy the U. S. United States and also to purchase guns with which to arm her and the other ship already being made over.

Before actual transfer could take place, Polk's term of office came to an end and the hero of the Mexican war, Zachary Taylor, was made President.

Georgia had a part in his election. Alexander Stephens and Bob Toombs were figures in the revolt in Georgia party politics. Taylor halted the plans. He allowed Germany to take the ship already purchased but insisted the ship fly the German flag, and thus balked plans to have her fly the American flag for protection in making the crossing. She was to sail for Bremerhaven, today one of the chief targets of the British air force.

She did sail with the German flag at her masthead, but no one knows how long it was kept up. The theory is it was hauled down as soon as the ship was out of sight of land.

At any rate, it is interesting to note how history repeats.

In 1847 there was a clamor to aid Germany because Germany was seeking to establish a democratic form of government as opposed to the monarchies of France and England.

Today we are slowly but surely nearing war because of our desire to uphold our own form of government.

Inaction Is Never Prudent While Another Man Is Drawing A Knife

By ROBERT QUILLEN.

"He who hesitates is lost," said the ancients, and added for good measure, "Nothing ventured, nothing gained." It is true that some prudent one gave a word of caution, "Look before you leap"; but even this was not the counsel of inaction, but only the sage advice to act upon knowledge instead of guesswork or wishful thinking.

These sayings have been heard so often the words no longer seem to have meaning; yet they contain a wealth of wisdom, and any individual who considers and heeds them, whether the greatest of statesmen or the humblest of private citizens, will avoid the troubles and misfortunes that are invited by timidity and indecision.

With the benefit of second sight, all the world now knows that English and French statesmen invited the enslavement of France and the ruin of Britain by their failure to act quickly and boldly. In many instances, as events proved, they knew the safe and wise thing to do but hesitated too long and did too little.

Swift and bold action would have kept Mussolini out of Ethiopia at little or no cost—or given him the territory without opposition and kept his friendship.

Swift and bold action would have kept Spain from falling into the hands of Hitler and Mussolini.

Swift and bold action would have kept Hitler out of the Rhineland and stopped the rapid growth of power that led to Austria, Czechoslovakia, Poland, Denmark, Norway, Holland, Belgium and France.

Follow that tragic story from beginning to end—even so far back as the failure of free lands to discipline and arm themselves—and you find every step on the way to ruin directed by inept, confused and timid men who could not decide to act and dared not follow the course that reason demanded.

Whatever their excuses—and all were politicians afraid of displeasing voters and losing power—their inability to act boldly and swiftly caused every shame and agony their people now endure.

We must learn from their mistakes or share their fate. In a world without respect for law or decency, leaders who are over-cautious and slow to act can be more dangerous than traitors. The test of prudence is not in the act but in its effect.

Plant Workers In Connecticut Cheer Willkie

Surging New Englanders Crash Police Lines To Hear Him.

WITH WILLKIE MOTORCADE IN CONNECTICUT, Oct. 9.—(UP)—Wendell L. Willkie, stumping for votes in industrial Connecticut, today told his hearers, thousands of them workers in munitions plants, that if this country continues to pile up federal debt "we will but build armaments to fall into the hands of some dictator who will arise from our own ranks."

The Republican presidential nominee asserted that New Deal "waste, extravagance and untruthfulness" was leading the nation toward "the chaos of bankruptcy and inflation," in which social gains and democracy itself would be lost.

Willkie began his Connecticut tour at Stamford, where a surging crowd broke police lines and had to be pressed back forcibly by state troopers. He was given a friendly reception by working men and women in half a dozen mill towns and an uproarious greeting by thousands of others at meetings in city parks.

At New Haven, Willkie said: "If little industry and little business does not flourish, then America cannot prosper. If this world is not harnessed for defense, then America cannot be defended. Little business is the backbone of America, in peace or in war."

In front of a Bridgeport factory, where the candidate paused a moment, someone shouted: "Hurray for Roosevelt."

"There," said Willkie with a grin, "is one of those open-minded citizens."

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—(AP)—Senators Barkley, Democrat, Kentucky, and Green, Democrat, Rhode Island, in separate statements today, took issue with a remark they attributed to Wendell Willkie that if the Roosevelt administration is returned to power "you will never collect a dime on your social security."

"The same argument was made by the Republicans in that shameless last-minute campaign in 1936 to convince workers through pay envelope warnings that the social security system was worthless," Barkley said.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—(AP)—Gifford Pinchot, former Republican Governor of Pennsylvania, said today he would campaign for President Roosevelt's re-election because, he said, "this is no time to put a green hand in charge of the ship."

Pinchot made his announcement at the White House after a visit with Mr. Roosevelt. He handed reporters a typewritten statement which said:

"I came to tell the President that I am for him. He has the training and experience. Without it no man is competent to bring us safely through this growing storm."

"This is no time to put a green hand in charge of the ship. Roosevelt represents our best chance for security and peace."

Good Morning—By Louie D. Newton

The beloved Bobby Burns has some lines in his "To a Louse" that run like this:

"Oh wad some power the giftie gie us
To see oursel's as others see us!
It wad frae monie a blunder free us,
And foolish notion."

Which truth is well illustrated in a story I was reading the other night.

A man dissatisfied with his own home, decided to sell the house and build another. He listed his home with a broker, and started looking for something that would suit him better.

Picking up the newspaper one morning, he read the description of a place that was for sale. It was exactly what he wanted. He called to his wife:

"I would be proud to have a house like that. As soon as I have my breakfast, I am going to see it and buy it, if the price is not prohibitive."

With haste he went to the dealer and told him of his desire to see the place advertised. The dealer, smiling, replied:

"I presume it could be arranged, since the house you have read about is the one you are offering for sale."

Don't ask what happened after that. I am telling the story as it appeared in a magazine which I chanced to be reading. Let me suggest the author's comment:

"The solution to our restlessness is within our grasp, if we will but see it."

Take the lines by Bobby Burns and the story here related and apply your own experience. I believe you will find that about the only solution for our restlessness and dissatisfaction must come from ourselves. Further, we will not discover the remedy until we first see ourselves in all the angles of our failure to properly appreciate what it is at our very fingertips to make us happy. This will apply in so many ways—in the home, in the office, in the school, in the club, in the church, on the playground—everywhere.

It is a very wholesome and healthful thing now and then to examine ourselves—taking that inward look of self-examination which Socrates summed up in two tremendously important words:

"Know thyself."

It is not always easy. It is much easier, we think, to look for the faults in other people, telling them what to do and not to do. But not until we are willing to see ourselves as others see us—not until then—are we likely to do anything about it. Selah.

34 Jackets Entrain Today; Layden Calls Tech Flashiest U. S. '11'

BY JACK TROY

Odd Figuring

The leading rating systems choose Georgia Tech over Notre Dame, and thereby reach a new high in fanciful reasoning.

There is no good reason under the sun why Georgia Tech should be given a higher rating nationally than Notre Dame. Did not Notre Dame defeat Tech last year? Has not Notre Dame beaten Tech every year except one?

It has been 12 years since Tech defeated the Fighting Irish.

Even if Tech were at full strength, there wouldn't be any logic in setting them up higher, nationally, than Notre Dame.

The rub is that Tech won't be at full strength on Saturday.

Bobby Pair, a flashy wingback, won't be able to aid the Tech cause very much because of a knee injury.

Bob Ison is hampered by a knee injury.

Roy Goree also is a member of the Knee Kap Klan.

Fortunately, nothing has happened to little Tom Thumb Johnny Bosch, the spark plug of the Rambling Wreck, in good shape.

It is unfortunate, indeed, that Bosch's running mates are not in top condition. A Tech team at its top might play the Fighting Irish off their feet as the Jackets did last year at South Bend.

But a team must be at its top to give and take with the Irish on their home grounds.

Timing of Tech plays has suffered by the absence of key men. Perhaps the defense will be just as strong as need be on Saturday, but the offense might be impaired.

Tech's defense was okay last year, and the offense was such as to keep the Jackets on even terms until the deciding field goal. There's not much to choose in a 17-14 ball game.

But this time Tech genuinely is crippled and the Fighting Irish are being regarded as potential national champions. That makes the Irish a prime favorite, regardless of rating systems.

Grand Picture

There are two conscientious objections to a sports writer will make on the grand picture, "Knut Rockne, All-American."

One is the inexplicable use of "Knut" as Knute Rockne's first name, all through the picture, and the other is omission of Harry Mehre as one of Rock's boys who has made an outstanding success in the coaching field.

It wouldn't have cost Warner Brothers anything to be natural about "Knut" or to have asked about the Rock's leading pupils.

Otherwise, it is a grand picture. Included are some of the stirring scenes from old Army-Notre Dame games, and dressing-room scenes. Pat O'Brien does a remarkable job in his characterization of Knute Rockne.

George Gipp comes to life on the screen. It is a swiftly moving dramatization of the life of the great Notre Dame

Final Workout Best of Year For Jackets

Three Varsity Elevens Pound Scrubs; Soph to Start at Fullback.

By JOHNNY BRADBERRY.

Tech's Yellow Jackets ended rough work for their game with Notre Dame yesterday with the most successful scrimmage of the year.

A light practice is scheduled this afternoon and a squad of 34 men, some of them crippled, will entrain tonight at 6:10 o'clock for South Bend. The team will arrive in time for a final workout in the Notre Dame stadium Friday afternoon.

Three varsity elevens made life miserable for the Red Devils in the final scrimmage. On offense, blocking, running and passing was jam-up, sometimes brilliant, and on defense the red-shirts could gain no headway through the rugged line of the blues.

GOORE CAN'T START.

A sophomore is almost definitely sure to start the game at fullback for the Techs. Roy Goree, first stringer at the post, tried out his knee on a couple of plays but was unable to do much. It is doubtful if he will be able to play over five or 10 minutes against the Irish.

Therefore, the starting job is left up to either Bobby Dodd or Jack Bradford, two sophoms. Both were running hard in the scrimmage but Dodd seems to have a slight edge because of his superior defensive ability.

Pluto Oliver, a skinny-looking kid brought up at tailback from the Bee team, was another star of the drill. He passed well and ran with great power. Dick Bates and Johnny Bosch also threw several fine passes while George Webb, Harry Arthur and Bob Ison made sparkling catches.

PASSING EXCELLENT.

Elmer Layden's pass defense had better be good or the Jackets will gain a lot of ground through the air lanes. The jacket running attack, which was rather futile against Howard College last week, also showed up better than ever before.

Bobby Beers, running from his wingback position, ripped off several neat gains. Once the varsity drove 80 yards for a touchdown in four plays with Beers traveling the final 25 on a reverse. However, all in all, the most cheering note was the hard line bucking of Dodd and Bradford and the excellent passing game.

LIGHT DRILL TODAY.

Today's drill will start early so the Jackets can have plenty of time to catch the train.

Players making the trip include:

Ends: Ison, Webb, Sprayberry, Arthur, Burroughs and Marshall. Tackles: Dyke, Mueth, Sanders, Holly, Carden and Anderson. Guards: Cavette, Aderhold, Lee, Jordan, Hood and Lamb.

Centers: Wright, Sutton and Quigg.

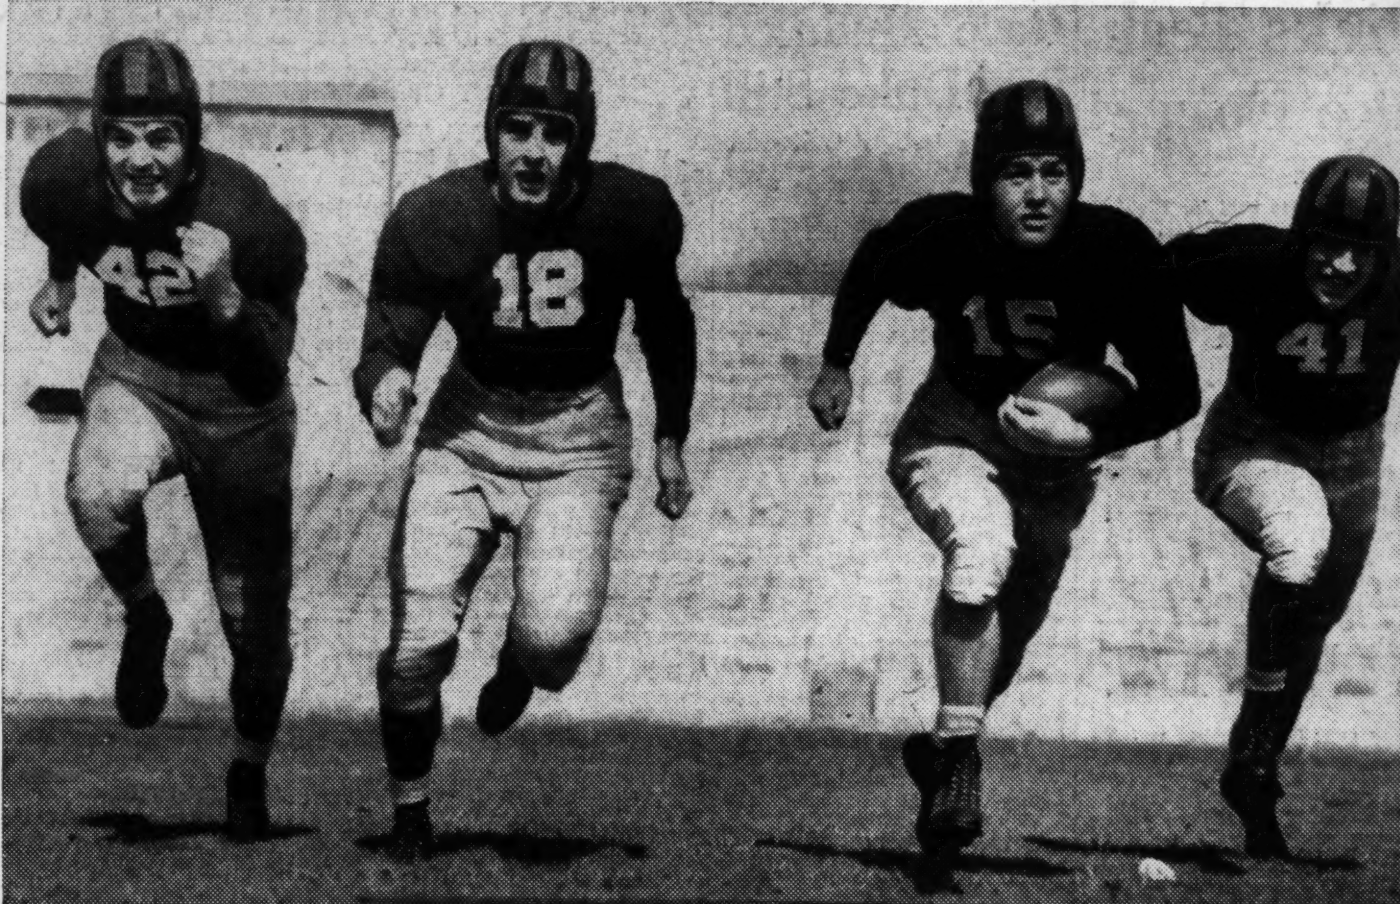

Blocking Backs: Plaster, Shaw and Wilkins.

Tailbacks: Bosch, Bates and Oliver.

Wingbacks: Beers, Hancock, Pair and Nettles.

Fullbacks: Goree, Bradford and Dodd.

FOUR FAST REBELS—Here is Ole Miss' starting backfield against Georgia in Athens Saturday. Left to right are Romeo Popp, quarterback, Billy Sam, right half, Junie Hovious, left half, and Merle Hapes, fullback. This quartet is considered one of the fastest backfields in the nation. Hapes is a great runner. He has averaged 12.2 yards a try while carrying the ball this season. Ole Miss rules a slight favorite to win.

Irish Not Going Into Saturday Tilt Unarmed

Piepul, Juzwik, Evans, Hargrave, Run Behind Good Line.

By TOM SILER.

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Oct. 9.—(AP)—Elmer Layden has dusted off an old golf precept—keep your eye on the ball—as fair warning to his Notre Dame lads that the Dixie Magicians are playing a return engagement here Saturday.

It has been a year since Layden's charges have had a look at the Georgia Tech hocus-pocus attack and Elmer fears they have forgotten all about it. But Elmer hasn't.

"Remember what a time they gave us last year?" he asked anxiously. "Whew! It looked like my team didn't know where the ball was half the time. And played like it, too. Don't forget, Tech has all those boys ready to go again."

Notre Dame whipped the invaders, right enough, by a 17-14 score but only after a touchdown pass slipped off Billy Gibson's fingers in the final minutes of the game. The Irish never saw as many end rounds, reverses, double reverses and triple passes behind the line as they saw that day.

"I think Coach Bill Alexander has the most spectacular team in the country," Layden added, "and I mean that."

But the Irish are not going into the fray unarmed. Once again Notre Dame has an abundance of brilliant backs and a line that needs only to shed its sluggishness to make the machine a match for one and all.

Fullback Milt Piepul will get his share of yardage against the best lines in the country; Right Halfback Steve Juzwik is a shifty, powerful runner, and Bob Hargrave is a gambling quarterback back from the word go. And Sophomore Dippy Evans figures to be the best breakaway runner Layden has had at Notre Dame.

Against this array Alexander will throw his 145-pound buzzsaw, Johnny Bosch, Bobby Beers and others. Bob Ison, stoutest flankman, is back for those devastating end rounds, and Neil Cavette, a guard, still is the south's best punter.

T. C. U. To Drill At Tech Today

Bulldogs Are 'Ready,' Rough Work Halted

'Our Boys in First-Class Condition,' Butt Says; Backs Look Good on Pass Defense.

ATHENS, Ga., Oct. 9.—Georgia is expecting an aerial bombardment from Harry Mehre's Mississippi Rebels Saturday and Wally Butts spent a majority of this afternoon's practice session searching for a way to stop it.

The Bulldog chieftain figured, his backs showed some improvement after the drill, but on a number of occasions freshman receivers managed to get away for touchdown catches.

KEUPER, NOWELL, SINKWICH. Big Red Keuper, Bobby Nowell and Frank Sinkwich stood out during the pass defense drill, with Tommy Witt, the alert young center, also coming in for praise on a number of occasions.

Coach Bill Hartman, who wasn't such a bad passer himself a couple of years back, played the role of Mississippi's Merle Hapes, Jackie Flack and Junie Hovious, all experts when it comes to throwing the pigskin.

While the backs worked against passes under the watchful eyes of Coaches Butts and Hartman, the linemen and ends worked in slow motion against a Red Devil team running Ole Miss plays. There was no rough work all day.

BULLDOGS NOT SLEEPING. Although the Rebels rate the favorites' role, there are no crocodile tears being shed at Georgia. Coach Butts said after the workout all that can be done has been done.

"If we aren't good enough for them now, then we'll just have to go out there and take our licking. We aren't going to do any more heavy work. Our boys are in first-class condition," he said.

In all probability, Thursday's workout will be in gym clothes and will consist of running through plays for about 30 minutes. Friday the Bulldogs will warm up and nothing more.

The starting lineup remains uncertain, but it's a better than even bet that Carl Grate will be at the left end spot.

The big fellow has really made headway these last two weeks and he may turn out to be the answer to Coach Butts' prayer for a rugged defensive flankman who can also make headway after he catches a pass.

GRATE MAY START. Grate has "made headway" in the last two games after snagging a pass, accounting for a touch-

Wave Eleven Is Handicapped By Guard Loss

Tulane Squad Seeks To Redeem Selves Against Fordham.

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 9.—(UP)—Tulane's once-powerful Green Wave, at an unexpected ebb tide in its first two games of the season, left for New York tonight to engage undefeated Fordham.

Three full teams entrained with hopes of living up to preseason forecasts, but Coach Red Dawson was shrouded in gloom. Still smarting under defeats by Boston College and Auburn, Dawson said the outlook for the rest of the season was "pretty tough."

"I think we would have been better off with a couple of easier games under our belts," Dawson remarked. "However, if we improve as fast as we did between Boston College and Auburn, we'll be hard for anybody to handle from here out."

Tulane will be handicapped Saturday by the absence of Co-captains Tom O'Boyle and Claude Groves, injured star guards, who will be replaced with a couple of sophomores, Henry Wolbrette and Tom Garback. Dawson decided to try using them to plug the gaping holes in the line. O'Boyle may play a few minutes, it is hoped.

Graduation, ineligibility and other factors brought great weakness to the successor of last year's team which was a Sugar Bowl entry, losing to Texas A. & M., 14-13. Dawson began the current season with the immediate necessity of finding two guards, three tackles, and an end, in the line. Also lost was an entire backfield, which included such sterling players as Bob (Jitterbug) Kellogg, Buddy Banker, Stan Nyhan and Monette Butler. And Dawson needs experienced quarterbacks.

Dawson considers Fordham a bit stronger than last year when Tulane scored a one-touchdown victory. The added strength is Fullback Stephen Filipowicz, a specialist in long passes. And Tulane's passing offense and defense are at their weakest.

Tulane didn't throw a single pass in the 1939 Fordham game, but rolled up 16 first downs. This year the Green Wave has experimented more with an aerial attack, but with disastrous results. Of the 23 passes attempted, nine

How can you tell LIQUEUR Scotch?

Every drop of Martin's is special "liqueur" Scotch—the label tells you so. And "liqueur" Scotch means the very pick of choice, mellow Scotch whiskies.

Martin's is also 88 proof, instead of the usual 86.8—goes a little farther. Martin's sells for no more than most brands. Next time, call for it and enjoy Scotch of "liqueur" quality at no extra cost.

Clemson Can Win S. C. Title by Beating Wake Forest Saturday

Williamson Picks Tech, Ole Miss, Wake Forest

By PAUL B. WILLIAMSON.

The Williamson system picks Georgia Tech to beat the Fighting Irish of Notre Dame at South Bend in the biggest intersectional football game this weekend. That's a precedent. We've picked the Irish each time before. But the ratings say the Yellow Jackets by a nose. Tech rates at 91.8; Notre Dame at 91.1.

In the other outstanding battles for the weekend the system gives the nod to Purdue over Michigan State, Nebraska over Indiana, Auburn over Mississippi State, T. C. U. over North Carolina, Northwestern over Ohio, Stanford over Santa Clara and Texas over Oklahoma. And just for good measure, we'll take Wake Forest to stop Clemson—the boys who turned back North Carolina State's howling Wolfpack.

That Purdue-Michigan State will be one of the hardest games this weekend. Purdue with a rating of 92.6 is only a slight favorite over State with 92.0. Closest pick on the schedule is Nebraska over Indiana. Each is rated at 90.4. There'll be a lot of attention on that game.

Auburn's Plainsmen exhibited plenty of push by beating Tulane, 20-14 last week and their rating of 92.2 gives them a lead to take Mississippi State 87.6.

The Big Ten's most important battle will be Northwestern-Ohio State. Northwestern gets the green light, contrary to pre-season estimates, with a rating of 87.6. Ohio State rates 94.1. It'll be a whale of a tussle.

Other winners should be: Ole Miss over Georgia, but watch your step; Iowa over Wisconsin in a tough one; Drake, just this time, over Kansas; St. Mary's, of San Antonio, the most colorful team in America, over North Dakota; Washington at 90.6 over Oregon at 86.2; Pennsylvania over Yale, and it might be a rout.

Representative football games to be played this week are listed below, with each team's latest rating according to the Williamson National Rating System. This rating is a measure of each team's past performance to date THIS SEASON. Results of the games are predicted on this basis.

The ratings tell as closely as possible the exact shade of difference between the competing teams. Hence a difference of 6 percentage points or less often indicates two evenly matched teams whose game will be a "toss-up" and the probable winner named is favored only slightly. Ties are sometimes likely in such cases.

EXPLANATION: Figure after each team is its rating according to the current Williamson National Rating System, published each week. PROBABLE WINNER IS NAME IN CAPITAL LETTERS. N, night game; S, Sunday.

Purples, Lanier Vie at Ponce de Leon Tonight

Doyal Cripples Favored Over Macon Eleven

Richardson Plays Fulton on Russell Field Tonight at 7:30.

By CHARLIE ROBERTS.

Coach Selby Buck will bring his Lanier Poets into town tonight in hopes his charges can stop the mad dash of Shorty Doyal's Purple Hurricane to their second consecutive G. I. A. A. football championship. The two elevens come to grips at Ponce de Leon park at 8 o'clock.

The Poets have not been as potent this year as in years past. They were tied by Columbus High, a team Boys' High whipped, 50 to 0, a few weeks back, so the Purples figure to win handily despite a team badly riddled by injuries to key men. Lanier always has been a toughie when playing in Atlanta, however, and the orange and green clad Maconites have a habit of insisting on being knocked out before they permit 10 to be counted over them. Jake Cox, Doyal's long punting guard-fullback, has a chipped bone in his hand, and Shorty will keep the youngster on the side lines if he sees the Purple banner can fly to victory without the aid of Jake's booming boots.

DOYAL SEEKS 9TH. Doyal, who is shooting for his ninth win against three defeats and four ties against the Buck-coached Poets, will start his first string backfield of Hoyt Fincher, Clint Castleberry, Bill Bailey, tied with two others for the G. I. A. A. scoring lead, and Alfred Berman in an effort to crash through the Lanier defense early. Cohen and Glenn probably will start at the ends, Furchgott and Alexander at the tackles, Stainton and Jenkins at the guards, and DeFreese at the pivot post.

The undefeated Richardson High eleven will engage the Fulton High Redbirds in the only other local game tonight. The two clash on the Russell High field in East Point at 7:30. The scheduled Marist-Oglethorpe Freshman tilt has been postponed until a later date. Friday the rapid fan can pick his game to attend with all due deliberation. A host of good melees are on tap with the G. I. A. A. soiree between Tech High and Commercial at Ponce de Leon at 8 o'clock and the natural between two tough N. G. I. C. outfits, Athens High and Decatur, slated for Decatur at 7:30, topping the list.

N. G. I. C. CHAMPS. Defending N. G. I. C. champions from North Fulton will defend their unbeaten record in a conference tournament with a reportedly stout Canton High eleven in an 8 o'clock tilt, and the North Fulton B team journeys to Hapeville to take on that now potent outfit in a 3 o'clock afternoon game. G. M. A. will engage the Jesup High lads under the lights at 7:30 in College Park, and the classic Russell outfit will play host to improved West Fulton in another 7:30 tussle.

The Tech High B eleven travels to Bremen for a game this afternoon.

Pounds, Bailey And Ray Pacing G.I.A.A. Scoring

COLUMBUS, Ga., Oct. 9.—(AP)—Three fast-stepping halfback aces who are sparking their teams' bids for title honors today held the leadership in the G. I. A. A. scoring derby.

Bill Bailey, of Boys' High; Lester Ray, of Jordan High, and Jack Pounds, of Tech High, broke from the post in a three-way deadlock with 24 points each.

Ray bolstered his total considerably last week with three touchdowns against Richmond Academy. Ray's pass-snapping ability is a big factor in his point-getting.

Wave Eleven Is Handicapped

have been completed—and seven intercepted. The defensive record is equally unimpressive. Boston College and Auburn tried 16 passes and completed 10.

Fordham Soph Is 'Perfect' Passer.

NEW YORK, Oct. 9.—(AP)—Steve Filipowicz, Fordham sophomore, gave a demonstration of near-perfect forward passing in practice today—the tip-off as to what Tulane can expect in Saturday's intersectional encounter here.

The varsity went through a long signal drill and then concentrated on the aerial game, with Filipowicz hitting the bull's-eye time after time.

The varsity spent but little time on defensive maneuvers, indicating further that Jimmy Crowley is going to bid for victory with a high-scoring team.

CAMP FIRE SESSIONS.—Participants in the deer and wild hog hunt in the Blue Ridge wildlife management area of the Chattahoochee National Forest are expected to enjoy such nightly sessions around the camp fire, usually productive of whoppers such as only hunters and anglers can relate. big game hunt in the heavily stocked north Georgia mountain section in 15 years. Application may be made to State Division of Wildlife or to the United States Forest Service, and must be accompanied by the $5.00 or $7.50 fee, according to the division entered. 150 hunters will be selected by public drawing October 12, and money will be refunded to all those not selected to participate.

After coming from one set down to defeat Harriett Grant and Mrs. Marion Kiser, 10-15, 15-10, 15-8, the tandem downed Mrs. Clark Howell and Mrs. Harold Ebersole in the finals, 15-3, 15-9.

Mrs. Howell and Mrs. Ebersole advanced to the finals with a decisive win over Mrs. George Sheffield and Mrs. Bernard Neal in the semi-finals, 15-1, 15-0.

Reds' Win Best Thing Possible for Baseball

By JUDSON BAILEY.

NEW YORK, Oct. 9.—(AP)—The best thing that could have happened to baseball was the victory of the Cincinnati Reds in the World Series. They made a "National League year" out of 1940 and restored the great American game to the competitive system. Even the American leaguers admit privately that the old one-sidedness was getting unhealthy.

It was a victory for the time-tested standards of baseball—that pitching is 70 per cent of the game and that smartness is as good as strength.

In retrospect, the series was so full of drama, joy and pathos that it might as well have been a piece of fiction.

To go back to the beginning, a year ago at this time nobody had the remotest thought that the Reds and Tigers would win their pennants in 1940. The Tigers had just finished fifth in the American League and the Reds had been wrecked by the all-conquering Yankees. The wise men said no team ever recovered from the shock of being steam-rolled in four straight by the Yanks.

Yet out of this bottomless pit into which the National League had fallen came a courageous combination from the smallest city in the major leagues to overthrow the "superior beings" who inhabited their rival territory.

CREDIT TO McKECHNIE. The whole Cincinnati organization is an efficient unit, but most of the credit, of course, goes to wily Will McKechnie, who also guided two National League all-star collections to triumphs over the American League this year—first in Florida last March and later in St. Louis in July.

He reorganized his Redlegs after the rout last year and brought them back stronger and better than ever. He kept them rolling in spite of vicissitudes that would have capsized a less courageous club—the death of Willard Hershberger and injuries to Ernie Lombardi and Lonnie Frey.

McKechnie inspired his men to give more than they had. He caused 40-year-old Jimmy Wilson to shed 10 years and 10 pounds and end his playing career in a blaze of glory. For the final game Wilson's right leg was taped in solid layers of adhesive so that it felt like it was in a cast.

Wilson was the unsung hero of the series to the press box boys, but there were others who will stand out in everybody's memory for a long time to come. Bill Werber was one. He was the backbone of the Reds' attack as well as the defense. He led all players on both teams in hitting with a .370 average. Red-headed Jimmy Ripple was another. He clinched Bucky Walters' first victory with a two-run homer and he helped win the final with a crucial double. Besides his clutch hitting, he was outstanding defensive outfielder of the series.

Finally, of course, Walters and big Paul Derringer did exactly what was expected of them by the people who picked the Reds to win the series. They each pitched two magnificent victories.

The Tigers were equally heroic in defeat and Buck Newsom was incomparable. He allowed an earned run average of only 1.38 in three games and came close to achieving three victories and a place in baseball's honor roll held by only eight other pitchers.

The break of the game that beat him yesterday came in the seventh inning when Shortstop Dick Bartlett took a throw from the outfield after Ripple's double. He had plenty of time to trap Frank McCormick's belated bid for a run, but for some reason held onto the ball.

The Tigers now are confronted with a reconstruction problem. Their infield is creaking with age

Kirby Shoots 70 At Lithia Springs

Dot Kirby is a bit irked. She came back from the national women's tournament at Del Monte, Cal., and promptly shot a 36-34—70 at the Lithia Springs course the first time she played.

Par-shooting doesn't irk anyone, but Dorothy was taken aback somewhat, figuring that she could have used that 70 in California during the tourney.

Louise Suggs shot a 37-35—72 that day.

and Charley Gehring, like Wilson, said afterward he was worn out as a player. But the rule that the American League clubs installed to break up the Yankees by preventing the pennant winner from trading with other clubs except through waiver now is booming at Detroit. And the decision of Commissioner Landis wrecking the Tigers' farm organization last year has curtailed their chance of getting good youngsters through their own sources.

The Reds may not stand pat, but they are not worrying now. The pressure is on the American League from here on.

Reeves Raves From Hospital Room Number 216

I never thought that I should be Cut down and helpless as a tree;
A tree on which the woodman chopped—
From which the vital parts were lopped—
Yet, here I am, constrained to lie,
While healthy people passing by
Look in upon my high-rigged bed
From which I may not raise my head.

Upon this fever-ridden tongue
Of mine which in the past has sung
Of birds and bees, of rills and trees,
And many silly symphonies
There lingers now, no happy lay
To drive the hours of care away;
Instead of these it bears the fruit
And essence of a rubber boot.

In fitful dreams that come and go
I watch the River Enma flow;
I listen to the bubbling swells
That rise from many gassy wells.
By Hypodermia's vales and peaks
Fevered imagination seeks
Some quiet spot where one can be Once more, somewhere near normacy.

There stands beside me in the night
A vision clad in spotless white;
A vision that forbodes no ill
(Except I have another pill)
That calls me from insomnia's brink
Suggesting that I wake and drink.
Wake and drink when I am curst
With want of sleep and lack of thirst.

Excuse me while I have a chill,
The office just sent up my bill.
OLLIE REEVES.

For Overhauling

As the reader may surmise from the poem above, our Mr.
Ollie Reeves is flat on his back.
Especially since the statement arrived.

Mr. Reeves has been a steady boarder at the Georgia Baptist hospital for a couple or three weeks. He wasn't sick and he hadn't been hit by a truck. He had merely been paid so highly for verses printed in this column he was overburdened with wealth.
He had always envied folk who could lie in a nice white hospital bed and have a nice nurse in a nice white uniform fuss over him.
So he thought he'd try it.

"The trouble about going to a hospital," Mr. Reeves explained, lapsing into prose, "is that when business is dull you have the time but no money. When business is rushing you have the money—temporarily—but no time."

The doctors, it appears played a dirty trick on Mr. Reeves. Once they had him down they worked on him. I once took a really nice running car to a repair shop to have the carburetor adjusted and they rebuilt the differential, extracted the carbon and inserted a new set of pistons. From what
Mr. Reeves said, they treated him somewhat similarly. If he doesn't feel like a new man when he's turned loose, he ought to.

He is now, I understand, receiving delegations from the Lions Club, of which he is past-president and poet laureate, and other friends. He smokes any brand of cigar which will not make the fire department think the soap factory is ablaze.

Buttons

Lots of talk in the New York papers about Willkie buttons and Roosevelt buttons and hot arguments among wearers.

Maybe I'm not observant, but I've seen hardly half a dozen campaign buttons in Atlanta.
Perhaps it's because everybody assumes everybody else knows he's for Roosevelt. Or, if he's a Willkie man, he doesn't want to have to explain why to every New Dealer he meets.

Personally, I don't like campaign buttons. I have my opinions, just as I have a favorite brand of cigars. But I think nobody else is especially interested in them.

They say one good turn deserves another, but sometimes I wonder whether it pays to be nice to folks. Few weeks ago I made favorable mention of a man in this pyramid of perspicacity and three days later he called up and asked me to send him 12 copies of the paper if that date. And where I'd find 12 copies of a three-day-old newspaper, I have no idea.

FBI Wasn't Probing

Lundeen, Hoover Says
WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—(P)—
The senate received today from J.
Edgar Hoover, chief of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, a statement that an FBI agent and a stenographer who were killed with Senator Lundeen, Farmer-
Laborite, Minnesota, in an airliner crash were not investigating the senator.

Hoover wrote to Senator Mc-Carran, Democrat, Nevada, sponsor of a resolution for an investigation of the plane crash which occurred near Lovettsville, Va., on August 31. The senate adopted the resolution, including provision for an inquiry into the FBI angle.

Film Actress Refuses

To Believe Sister Dead
HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 9.—(P)—
Informed today that her sister,
Gigetti, had been killed in a London air raid, Madeleine Carroll, the film star, said "I refuse to believe it until I have had direct word."

Miss Carroll cabled her parents and friends for confirmation.
"I am sure I would have been informed if she had been killed," a spokesman quoted the star as saying.

GRIM is the reminder as these vested choristers file past an army recruiting sign as they lead the way into the hall for the opening of the Episcopal Church's 53d triennial general convention in Kansas City.
Problems created by war will claim attention of the

Puzzled Sergeant Sees Double

SEEING DOUBLE Ever since twin brothers joined the army a few days ago and were sent to the Arlington, Va., cantonment, life has become very puzzling for Sergeant Jack Brennan (right). The boys are Thurman (left) and Ermine Mullins, of Pound, Va., and here Brennan is still wondering which one is which.

TALKS TO F. D. R. Dr. Clarence A. Dykstra (right), president of the University of Wisconsin, said after a White House conference yesterday that President Roosevelt had discussed the post of draft administrator with him.
Secretary of War Stimson (left) also sat in on the conference. (Story on Page 1.)

DAYS OF GLORY lived again in memory as these three "boys"—aged in body, but youthful in spirit—met at the golden reunion of the United Confederate Veterans at Washington. They are (left to right) R. W. Ransome, of Texas; A. T. Fuller, of Louisiana, and T. N. Mayo, of Virginia. (Story on Page 10.)

Chance Looms Today For Duce To Take Spotlight From Hitler

Tension in the Far East over Burma Road developments gets the headlines in this country; but it is Near Eastern tension that most concerns Britain's war leadership.
It is there, not in the far Pacific, that the next important and dramatic development of the Axis-
British war seems slated to come.

A rare opportunity is offered Mussolini to take the center of the stage away from his Axis mate, Hitler. He is scheduled to address a gathering of young Fascist volunteers in Padua today at the conclusion of his trip to inspect Italian troops.

If Hitler and Mussolini, in the course of their recent Brenner Pass conference, made any plans to intensify the war in the Near East, and if they believe the time is now ripe to reveal that fact, Il Duce is the logical member of the duo to make the disclosure. The Mediterranean theater is Italy's sphere of action in the Axis setup. It is quite likely that Mussolini has been yearning for a moment when he could indicate to his own people and the world that he is co-equal with Hitler and not a mere second fiddle in the Axis concert.

Golden Opportunity
Padua might give him that chance. It would be a golden opportunity to convey the impression to the Italian people that Hitler, virtually stalemated by British resistance in the west, has appealed to Mussolini to take the lead in pressing the war in the Near East.

Meantime, the incursions of German "model army" forces into Rumania have created new tension in Turkey and Greece, Britain's nonbelligerent friends in the Near East. Both have commitments with London.

The fact that Britain has not called upon Turkey to implement their understandings for maintenance of the status quo in the Mediterranean looks like definite evidence that, in the opinion of London, the situation in that area has not become serious as yet.

Britain stands pledged to help Greece if attacked, and Turkey to join Britain on call, always with a reservation as to Russia's attitude. It is clear, therefore, that Italian and German war activities seemingly impending in the Near East may, sooner or later, force the issue on both Turkey and Russia.

Added Pressure
Presumably Axis plans call for added winter pressure on Britain's eastern Mediterranean life line while the battle in the west drags along. Yet any development of Anglo-Rumanian friction which led to a war between them and which dragged Turkey into the struggle vs Britain's ally could create a new menace for the Axis oil supply in Rumania, vital to victory.

It is 400 miles air flight or less from possible Turkish bases to the Rumanian oil fields. British bombers hopping the North sea to hammer at oil and other targets in Germany are making round trips of 1,200 miles or more. That is the other side of the medal of any Axis action that might draw
Turkey or Greece into the fray.

Yet Italian propaganda, even more than German, insists that great events are impending in the Near East, with Mussolini in the driver's seat. Rome reports arrangements for an international broadcast of his Padua speech, which would be of little interest outside Italy unless it disclosed something of the decisions taken at the Brenner Pass conference.

'Neutral U.S.' Prizes Cited by Duce's Paper

Canada, Australia, New Zealand Would Be Among Rewards.

ROME, Oct. 9.—(P)—Benito Mussolini saw his soldiers fight a sham battle in the mountains overhanging the Italo-Yugoslav frontier today, and observers wondered whether he would use his mainland army—still fresh for blitzkrieg work—to cut a path toward the Near East's oil fields.

Tomorrow Il Duce will review some 20,000 young Fascist volunteers at Padua in an internationally broadcast ceremony, and he may make a speech. No one, however, expects him to give any Axis plans away. The ceremony is at 11:25 o'clock in the morning (3:25 o'clock tomorrow morning Atlanta time).

His newspaper, Il Popolo d'Italia, today devoted much of its space to the rewards it said the United States would inherit from Britain if it stayed neutral.

Mario Appelius, the paper's military commentator, "offered" Canada, Newfoundland, the Bahamas, Bermuda, Jamaica and even Australia and New Zealand as prizes the United States might expect in return for neutrality.

Alternatively, Appelius suggested the United States would wind up in an "inferior diplomatic position" if she persisted in aiding Britain short of war, and that if she entered the war, she would "commit suicide."

Anniversary Fete Honors Dr. Stauffer

Church Members Give Dinner for Pastor and Wife.

Dr. C. R. Stauffer, pastor of the First Christian church, and Mrs. Stauffer were honored last night by the members of the church in a dinner and program, marking the 15th anniversary of Dr. Stauffer's pastorate and his homecoming after an illness at Kansas City.

Code of Ethics Given Approval By N.E.A. Body

Teachers Adopt Basis for Georgia School Relationships.

Special to THE CONSTITUTION. MILLEDGEVILLE, Ga., Oct. 9. Adoption of a "code of ethics for Georgia school relationships" featured this week's meeting of the sixth district meeting of the Georgia Education Association here.

The ethics code was based upon personal character in group relationships and embraced the following principal points:

To dedicate themselves to the service of the child; to believe in and co-operate with the community in order to afford service to it as an integral part of the teaching job; to co-operate with and be loyal to the leaders of the school, the state and the nation; to construe all criticism as constructive and directed to proper authorities; expressing belief in and desire for the advancement of teachers solely on the basis of merit, and condemning the practices of nepotism, bargaining and underbidding in obtaining teachers; reiterating a belief in the personal integrity of the teacher as being the cornerstone of the social well-being, and that the sanctity of contracts, whether oral or written, should be upheld.

In addition to the code of ethics, a suggested teacher's oath was appended to the program, calling for teachers "to resolve to give to the teaching profession loyalty, participation in group life, placing of service above monetary return, co-operation, personality, dependability, patriotism, reverence and tolerance."

Atlantan Pens Word Picture Of Howell Jackson Estate

• • • OAKENDALE FARM, the 600-acre estate of Mr. and Mrs. Howell Jackson at Middleburg, Va., is one of the show places in that section of the Old Dominion state. Recently a trio of prominent Atlantans, including Mr. and Mrs. Robert F. Maddox and Mrs. Rix Stafford, have been guests at Oakendale. Mr. and Mrs. Maddox spent last weekend there en route from New York, and Mrs. Stafford motored to Virginia with the Jacksons after their recent visit here.

Mrs. Jackson is the former Mary Gattins, of this city, and Atlantans will be interested in a word picture of her lovely Georgian house which, Mrs. Stafford writes, is built on a grass-sewn hill, with the Blue Ridge mountains as a scenic backdrop.

Rocks that were taken from their native soil on the farm were used to build the house. It is painted oyster-white and the blue-gray trim around the windows and doors matches the slate-covered roof.

Blooded horses and cows graze in the meadows and the call of turkeys and chickens is heard during the day, all of which adds to the completeness of farm life.

Four little Sealyhams, named Happy, Dingle, Polly and Sissy, roam at will over the grounds surrounding the house, and Remus, the black police dog, stays at the heels of his master all day long.

Howell rides every day on his hunting horses and attends the trial meets held several times a week in the hunting season. The Virginia fox-hunting season starts on November 1, but the men and women who ride to the hounds are already there getting in trim for the hunt. Mary takes time out to be a wonderful housekeeper and leaves riding to Howell, who looks very smart in riding togs, according to Mrs. Stafford.

Down in the village of Middleburg is the Red Fox Tavern, the oldest building there, and which has been redone with truly early American atmosphere. It opened last Saturday evening with a grand flourish.

The drives around the countryside are very picturesque. Llangollen, the 22,000-acre estate of Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Whitney, nestles at the foot of the Blue Ridge. A long avenue of elm trees leads to the white-columned house, which is closed just now, as the well-known "Liz" Whitney does not return from California until late this month.

At Brookmead, the Virginia home of Mrs. Sloan Dodge, lives Cavalcade, her magnificent thoroughbred horse which won the Kentucky Derby. He is stabled with two other fine animals named High Quest and Psychic Bid, the first being a bay and the latter a chestnut stallion. When the Jacksons' guests visited this estate, the groom bridled Cavalcade and brought him out to trot around the generous space allotted outside his stall. Cavalcade is rich brown in color, is very good-natured, and the Atlantans thought he seemed very fond of the groom, who played with him before he was put back into his stall.

The Jacksons and Mrs. Stafford spent a day in Washington, D. C., where they rubbed elbows with numerous celebrities while enjoying lunch. At the next table sat Mrs. Graham Lewis, famed as Elizabeth Arden, who presided over a chrysanthemum-laden table. Mary Jackson is a lifelong friend of Mrs. Lewis and later the trio had tea with her.

Mrs. Lewis' sister, Countess Henri de Maublanc, is now on the high seas, returning from war-torn France, according to the former. Her home at Versailles was taken over when the war reached that point and the Countess was evacuated from Paris to Vichy, and then back to Paris, before she was able to arrange to come to the United States to reside with her sister.

The visitors to Washington also discovered that Alice Ingersoll, daughter of Rear Admiral Royal Ingersoll and Mrs. Ingersoll, will make her debut in the national capital on December 10. Alice is the daughter of the former Louise Van Harlingen of Atlanta, where she spent her girlhood and was married. Mrs. Ingersoll's parents are J. N. Van Harlingen and the late Mrs. Van Harlingen, well-known Atlantans.

• • • SALLY HEARS that Henrietta Colley, schoolgirl daughter of the Stewart Colleys, of Grantville, is one of the most popular students on the campus at Sophie Newcomb. You remember that Henrietta graduated from Washington Seminary three years ago, and now she is a senior at Newcomb, with visions of graduating again next June.

Recently she has been very busy rushing for Chi Omega, with most of her efforts concentrated upon those two popular Atlantans, Anne See and Cato Wheelchel. And late reports reveal that her efforts were not wasted, for she has succeeded in pledging both Anne and Cato.

Rumor has it that Henrietta is often seen in the company of a prominent young resident physician at Charity hospital in New Orleans. He is a Tulane graduate and is as handsome as Henrietta is pretty. So there's much speculation among her friends as to whether a romance is brewing.

Just before she returned to school, Henrietta's grandmother, Mrs. S. E. Leigh, gave her a beautiful spoon pin which is one of her most prized possessions. Mrs. Leigh wore it when she was a college belle at Wesleyan, and engraved on the back of the miniature spoon are the names of the two owners and the date each received it, as follows: Love Moreland, 1884—Henrietta Colley, 1940.

Miss Frances Sewell Becomes Bride of Lamar Rich Plunkett

At a brilliant ceremony taking place last evening at Druid Hills Baptist church Miss Ava Frances Sewell, lovely daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Palmert Sewell, became the bride of Lamar Rich Plunkett, of Charleston, S. C. Dr. Louis D. Newton performed the marriage at 8:30 o'clock in the presence of an assemblage of friends and relatives of the prominent couple.

A musical program was presented by Miss Alyse Smith, of Burlington, N. C., organist; Miss Ruth Dabney Smith, violinist; Weddington Kelley, soloist. Cathedral candelabra holding gleaming white tapers and urns containing arrangements of Easter lilies placed against a background of stately palms and ferns formed the decorations for the church. Marking the family pews were clusters of Easter lilies tied with white satin bows.

Ushers were Dr. H. R. Halsey, Captain A. D. Tisdale, E. H. Conner, Roy B. Sewell, S. L. Landers, J. H. Pritchett, S. W. Hubbard and A. R. Lovvorn. Groomsmen were Roy Plunkett, Edward Wilkinson, Henry D. Jones, Bowie Sheppard, Robert Hood and R. A. Sewell.

Miss Charlotte Elizabeth Sewell was her sister's maid of honor. She wore a becoming gown of aqua faille fashioned with a sweetheart neckline and short puffed sleeves. The dress was trimmed with matching velvet ribbon. She wore a cluster of fresh flowers tied with velvet ribbon in her hair. Her colonial bouquet of pastel shaded flowers was tied with maline. The matron of honor, Mrs. Frank Bullock, was gowned like the maid of honor.

The bridesmaids, Misses Elizabeth Johnson, Alice Dunbar, Evelyn Greene, Mrs. Clyde Henry and Mrs. L. R. Walker, wore gowns of natter blue styled like that of the maid of honor. They carried bouquets like Miss Sewell's and silver and onyx bracelets, gifts of the bride.

Wearing a handsome gown of ivory faille, the beautiful bride was given in marriage by her father. They were met at the altar by the groom and his best man, Quenton H. Plunkett, his brother. The bride's exquisite gown was fashioned along empire lines featuring long sleeves and a sweetheart neckline. Her bouffant skirt, which extended to form a court train in the back, was graced with an applied velvet design. Her heirloom veil of Chantilly lace was fashioned in the shape of a Mary Queen of Scots coronet. She carried a bouquet of orchids, valley lilies, and stephanotis. Her only ornament was a single strand of pearls, a gift of the groom.

Mrs. Sewell chose for her daughter's wedding a Lanvin model of aqua crepe featuring a rhinestone studded belt. A cluster of orchids adorned her shoulder. Mrs. James E. Plunkett, the groom's mother, was attired in a Milgrim model of black crepe with gold sequin lapels. Her flowers were a shoulder spray of bronze orchids and valley lilies.

After the ceremony the bride's parents entertained at a reception at their home on Springdale road. Centering the bride's table was a tiered cake the base of which was surrounded with a garland of white pompon chrysanthemums. Silver candelabra hold-

Allergies Cause Large Percentage of Colds

By Dr. William Brady.

Sometimes I wonder if any of our old readers who used to get so mad when I asserted there is no such disease as "rheumatism" are still alive and still suffering with rheumatism.

I know a great many readers have "touches" of neuritis, for they tell me so, but that's all I know about it. Sometimes, though, I wonder whether what ails them isn't—now, please don't boo—simply prolonged moderate deficiency in vitamin B complex intake.

Nowadays I have something else to wonder about. I wonder whether a great deal of bitter controversy could not have been avoided these 10 or 20 years had both sides had a better understanding of allergy. I mean the controversy over "catching cold." It is now pretty well recognized by physicians who are abreast of progress that a large percentage of alleged "colds" that come on and clear off rather abruptly are in fact manifestations of allergy, and neither infectious nor in any way related to cold, exposure, weather, dampness or draft.

I have a monograph "Relief for Allergy," available on request if you enclose stamped envelope bearing your address. Allergic manifestations vary greatly in different individuals—from hives or eczema in one to asthma or furious watering at the nose and machinegun sneezing in another.

Why some individuals suffer from these or other manifestations of allergy and others do not, is a mystery as yet. Indeed we do not know why allergic sensitivity to an identical substance, say egg white or feather dust or orris root (in cosmetic powder) causes an eczematous outbreak in one individual, coryza in another, asthmatic attack in still another.

Now many nose and throat specialists believe many cases of sinus trouble are not of infectious (germ) origin but purely allergic in character. They maintain that failure to recognize the allergic factor in such cases is the reason why much sinus surgery fails to bring the anticipated relief.

Frankly, I am singing in the dark or in dim light on this subject, but I do not suffer from night-blindness, thanks to my optimal daily intake of vitamin A—a capsule of two (25,000 or 50,000 units) of natural A at breakfast every morning. I have been impressed by the large number of correspondents reporting extraordinary relief to chronic sinus trouble from high calcium diet and calcium feeding (send stamped envelope bearing your address and ask for monograph, "The Calcium Shortage"). I have been impressed also by the large number of correspondents reporting symptomatic relief from the use of soluble potassium chloride as instructed in the allergy monograph above mentioned.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

Vitamin Units.

The different classifications of vitamin units are confusing to one advised to take so many units of a given vitamin. Sometimes international units, sometimes U. S. P. and sometimes still other standards are specified. Please give the equivalents of the different units. (Puzzled).

Answer—The whole business is confused, thanks to the present attempt to establish some universal standard such as the international unit. Until this is effected it will be impossible to specify precisely what the equivalents are.

Hays' Office Plans a General Clean Up

By Sheila Graham.

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Oct. 9.—Claudette Colbert and Ray Milland have some pretty racy scenes and dialogue in "Arise, My Love," but these may be blue-penciled before reaching you. I understand that Will Hays has asked for a print to be sent to him in New York. Movie dialogue has been creeping slowly, but surely back to the free standard of the early 1930's. Or haven't you noticed? Anyway, it is expected there will be an edict from the Hays office for a general cleaning up or risk situations.

MY DAY: An Official Tour With the President

By Eleanor Roosevelt.

HYDE PARK.—I left Hyde Park with my husband yesterday at noon for Watervliet, N. Y. He inspected the old arsenal which I passed so many times when we lived in Albany, but never before dared to enter. It always seemed to me a quiet place in those days, but yesterday it was certainly a busy spot, running three shifts and employing some 2,700 men and constantly increasing in production.

From there we went to the Saratoga battlefield. The whole staff working with Mr. Al Kresse was on hand and we drove to the three sites being considered for the administration building. Governor Lehman was with us during the entire trip and he seemed to share the President's interest in maps of all kinds.

They sat in the car at the top of the hill. The entire staff working on the development of Saratoga Battlefield Park was with them and discussed all that was some day to be done in the fields around to make this battlefield of historic interest to the public.

From there we went to the Saratoga baths with General Hines, of the Veterans' Administration. He is interested in new facilities for cardiac patients and hopes to be able to use the wonderful development at Saratoga Springs during the months when it is scarcely used at all.

On the drive through Troy and Cohoes and several smaller towns, my husband had the opportunity of seeing some of his old friends.

Having Governor Lehman with us made the official part of the trip very pleasant. Since the Governor was attending a parent-teacher dinner, we parted at Loudonville and went to Mr. Earl Miller's house there for a purely social two hours. The President had not seen his house before and was interested in a glimpse of the inside, but he will have to go back again to see the outside, for it was dark when we reached it.

A few friends, who had been asked to meet the President, had been waiting for some time. I think they were forgiving and understood that on trips of this kind there are always more things to see than are anticipated. My husband left Albany for Washington about 9 and Miss Thompson and I returned to Hyde Park.

Handmade Rugs Lend Air Of Cheer to Room

What an air of cosy cheer this fringed cartwheel rug will lend to a room! And friends will be amazed to know you made it yourself on—of all things—a barrel hoop.

The finished rug is 22 inches in diameter and looks especially gay when made of strips of red and white percale with white cotton crochet or knitting yarn for fringe. About 7 yards of the white percale and 2 of red are enough.

Prepare your hoop by winding it tightly with strips of old cloth. Now cut 4 strips of red percale lengthwise of the fabric, each strip about 3 inches wide. Turn fringes under and fold white center. These strips you stretch across the hoop so they look like spokes in a wheel. Pin ends to rim.

Next cut a number of red and white 3-inch strips on the bias and fold as you did your "spokes." Pinning end of a red strip to the center and a spoke, carry strip to rim and start weaving over and under, around and around.

Whenever weaving begins to look loose add V-shaped spokes. Pin a red strip (cut lengthwise) to rim, loop strip over last row of weaving and fasten end back to rim. Make alternating circles of red and white weaving and finish off with a row of white.

To complete rug unpin and turn edges under. Then add fringe by sewing loops of yarn through edge of rug, knotting and cutting ends off even.

Our 40-page booklet, NEW IDEAS FOR HANDMADE RUGS, gives diagrams and complete directions for the cartwheel rug and many other lovely types, including hooked, crocheted and braided rugs. Has Oriental pile rug, Colonial rag, French knot and more you'll enjoy making.

inexorable advance. The idea is to keep Mickey a boy for the next three years—or until he begins to grow taller, which doesn't seem likely now. Before he left on his personal appearance tour, Mickey had a date at the Pomona police benefit. He took 17-year-old Rita Quigley and explained to her, seriously, "This is one of the responsibilities of greatness." Rita describes Mickey as "very nice, very considerate, and a sweet boy." She also revealed that Spencer Tracy gave him this advice: "If you get in a fight, hit quickly—and leave quickly." And, by the way, Mickey is eligible now for the draft.

Orson Welles has shed 40 pounds of flesh, and what with shaving his beard, it's so good-looking—well, it's just incredible. Incidentally, Orson cannot marry Dolores Del Rio just yet. There is still that matter of filing for divorce from her estranged husband, Cedric Gibbons. . . . Olympe Bradna is going to the figure-reducing sanitarium in Santa Barbara, the same place that reshaped Patsy Kelly, Ilona Massey and Miliza Korjus. . . . Which reminds me, Dorothy Lamour has been ordered to wear a girdle to improve her figure and walk. Those sarongs make a girl careless.

Vivien Leigh occupies the dressing-room bungalow Mae West used to have on the general service lot. A few yards away is Laurence Olivier in the dressing room that was built for Bing Crosby. A high fence has been built to link the two bungalows, but you can see through the chinks of wood. And every time Laurence calls for a chat with his wife, every stenographer on the lot knows about it, and is there to waylay him as he returns to his own little home. Cute?

Increase Pep And Ambition With Exercise

By Ida Jean Kain.

Some women seem to resent the very idea of exercise—along with everything else they have to do! But if the mother of seven children—seven—can find time to exercise regularly, well, I guess the rest of us can!

This busy housewife could probably match her hard work story with anyone's, but she writes to say:

"Over a period of months I have done wonders for myself with the exercises. Just one year ago, after the birth of my seventh child, I was in need of surgery, due to prolapse and loss of muscle tone. I asked my doctor if exercise would help, but he said that I was beyond the help of any exercise he knew and what else could I expect?"

"I was very discouraged. But I didn't feel that I could undergo surgery at the time so I decided to try exercise anyway and see if I couldn't bring back a bit of muscle tone to the abdominal wall and slim down my waistline.

"With the aid of the exercises and without really dieting—just by cutting down on potatoes, bread and desserts—I have almost brought my weight down to normal. Also, after exercising for quite a long time I discovered a decided improvement in my condition. Then I began to do the abdominal set in earnest! Now, believe it or not, I am so much better that I may be able to go without the operation. It seems miraculous, but there it is! I feel like a new woman. I have plenty of pep and ambition—and I need both in my job. It is heavenly to feel like working without having to push myself!"

"It goes to show what a busy housewife can accomplish when she doesn't fall back on excuses. Practically any woman can find plenty of things to do besides exercise. And if you put everything else ahead of exercise, you will never do any. If you take the time for daily calisthenics, however, you may be like this writer—you may feel so much better that you get more work done.

It is an excellent idea to take your exercises in the morning before you are tired out from the housework. That's the only way most of us can get them in! And if you are really too busy to do more than a couple of exercises, concentrate on those which strengthen the abdominal wall, for they are the ones you need most. Here are two exercises which give good returns for the few minutes they require:

Assume the knee-chest position—kneel on the floor and bend the trunk forward from the hips, elbows bent and forehead resting on the forearms. The lower abdominal muscles should be drawn up and in and the muscles of the buttocks contracted to give the proper tilt to the pelvis. This position should be held for five minutes or more at a time and should be taken twice a day. This exercise not only strengthens the abdominal muscles, but it puts the organs back in their proper position.

From the knee-chest position, raise one leg backward high in the air, keeping knee straight. Hold for a second, pulling up and in with the abdominal muscles. Return to position and repeat six times. Then perform with the other leg.

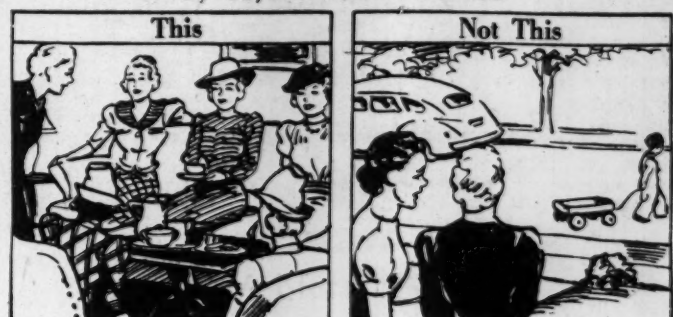

Send stamped envelope for the leaflet, "Abdominal Exercises," to Ida Jean Kain, The Constitution, Atlanta, Ga.

The marriage of Miss Rosagene Marshall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Edward Marshall, and Samuel Cleveland Frazier, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Cleveland Frazier, was solemnized October 6 at the Warren A. Candler Methodist church. Rev. W. W. Watkins performed the ceremony, and music was rendered by Mrs. F. C. Groover, pianist, and Miss Eleanor Berry, vocalist.

The altar was banked with palms and ferns and candelabra held burning white tapers. Graceful baskets filled with white gladioli completed the decorations.

Groomsmen were A. A. Marshall, W. S. Peoples and W. O. Marshall. Miss Lillian Schumpert, cousin of the bride, was maid of honor. She wore a floor length model of rose moire taffeta fashioned bouffant style with sweetheart neckline and puffed sleeves. Six carried bouquets of pink roses and daisy chrysanthemums tied with matching tulle.

The matron of honor, Mrs. W. H. Tumlin, sister of the bride, was gowned in soldier blue taffeta. Her flowers were yellow roses and pom-pom chrysanthemums tied with yellow tulle.

The bridesmaids, Miss Frances Frazier, sister of the groom, and Miss Dorothy Forsyth, wore gowns fashioned alike and carried bouquets of talisman roses and bronze chrysanthemums. Miss Frazier's gown was of bronze taffeta and Miss Forsyth wore hunter's green.

The lovely bride entered with her father who gave her in marriage. They were met at the altar by the groom and his best man, Jack Weinmaster. The bride's radiant beauty was enhanced by her wedding gown of ivory satin designed with sweetheart neckline, molded bodice and train. Her veil of ivory tulle was caught to her hair with a coronet of orange blossoms. Her only ornament was a locket worn by her mother at the time of her marriage. She carried a white prayer book shrouded with orchids and valley lilies.

The bride's mother wore soldier blue with matching hat and a shawl; spray of talisman roses. Mrs. Frazier, mother of the groom, wore wine and blue tulle to match. Her flowers were sweetheart roses.

After the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Marshall entertained at a reception at their home. The bride's table was overlaid with a lace cloth and centered with a three-tiered wedding cake.

For traveling the bride chose a three-piece suit of mixed tones with black accessories, and a shoulder spray of orchids completed her costume.

Later in the evening the young couple left for Rome, Ga., where they will reside.

Three Protest Being Listed by Willkie-Crats

Wilson Tells Leathers To Present Arguments to Governor.

By LUKE GREENE.

A fight was in prospect yesterday over whether three Democratic nominees certified to Governor Rouse as "Willkie-crats" will be stricken from the certification list before the compilation of the general election ballot.

Although the deadline passed with seven Democratic candidates still in the "Willkie-crats" column, three of these yesterday protested any action which might place them on the ballot as nominees of the Independent Democratic party of Georgia. The party is endorsing Wendell Willkie and Charles L. McNary.

Secretary of State Wilson explained the matter was now out of his hands, and that decisions in the three cases were up to Governor Rivers. The Governor was in Lakeland yesterday and is not expected back until tomorrow.

Writes Letter.

Hugh Peterson, candidate for congress from the first district, refused to write a letter saying specifically that he wanted to be left off the "Willkie-crats" ticket, but contended that the secretary of state's office had information to show that he wanted to be included only on the straight Democratic ticket.

The other two protesting candidates were Judge John Rourke Jr., running for judge of the eastern circuit, and Roy Leathers, nominee for solicitor general of the Stone Mountain circuit.

Secretary of State Wilson had warned the Democratic nominees that they had to notify him in writing that they did not want to go on the Independent Democratic ticket before he made up his certification list to the Governor. He made his first announcement to this effect last Friday.

Peterson, whose district has a larger percentage of Republicans than some other districts in the state, sent a telegram to Wilson yesterday morning in which he said:

"I have not indicated in any manner whatsoever to anyone a willingness or desire to have my name appear on any other than a straight Democratic ticket. I shall hold you responsible if my name appears on the ballot of November 5 on any other ticket than the Democratic ticket or for any office than that to which I was regularly elected in the Democratic primary of September 11."

Wilson Replies.

Wilson replied with a telegram in which he said Peterson would have to present his arguments to the Governor, and since the certification list already had been turned over to the chief executive, who makes up the ballot.

Leathers claimed that he was busily engaged with the duties of his office at the time the deadline passed, and asked, as the other candidates had done, that his name be excluded from the list. Judge Rourke made a similar request.

Legal experts were inclined to agree Peterson should be retained, and asked, as the other candidates had done, that his name be excluded from the list. Judge Rourke made a similar request.

Governor-nominate Talmadge, Tom Linder, nominee for commissioner of agriculture; Eschol Graham, nominee for superior court judge of the Oconee circuit, and James C. Davis, nominee for judge of the Stone Mountain circuit, were other Democratic candidates on the "Willkie-crats" ticket.

STATE WILLKIE-CRATS WILL TAKE TO ROAD

Georgia "Willkie-crats" will take to the road with a sound car and trailer in an effort to carry their message to every section of the state before November 5, it was announced yesterday.

Devereux H. Lippitt, Atlanta attorney and chairman of the Fulton County Independent Democratic Club, will accompany the caravan and make two addresses a day for the remainder of the campaign. The caravan appeared first in Fulton and DeKalb counties yesterday, and will swing into the northwestern part of the state today for appearance at Dalton and Rome.

Metropolitan Life Holds Conference

Approximately 500 Metropolitan Life Insurance Company field men from Georgia and South Carolina assembled here yesterday to attend an educational conference and hear an address by Kenneth C. Ringer, superintendent of agencies in the company's nine-state southern territory.

Also attending the meeting were B. L. Church, W. L. Hobson and J. E. Neal, of New York, agency supervisors, and R. J. Seay, New York, officer in charge of field training supervision.

It's Dime a Visit To Magda's Villa

BUCHAREST, Oct. 9.—(P)—The villa of Mme. Magda Lupescu, friend of former King Carol II, was opened to the public today at 10 cents admission.

Crowds filed through, gazing at the luxurious tapestries, antiques, and the boudoir filled with picture albums, phonograph records and other mementoes of the years when Carol ruled Rumania.

Many of the photographs bore the signatures of leading Rumanian figures.

The Iron Guardsists also got rid of a bust of Armand Calinescu, premier who was assassinated in September, 1939; they buried it ceremoniously in the public square near Iron Guard headquarters after lines of Guardsists had been allowed to spit on it.

5,000,000 Jobs Seen In U. S. Defense Work

NORFOLK, Neb., Oct. 9.—(P)—Secretary of Labor Francis Perkins estimated tonight the national defense program would put a total of 5,000,000 to 6,000,000 men and women to work in the coming year.

Miss Perkins, in a speech prepared for the Nebraska Conference for Social Work here, said industrial employment is now about 9,500,000 greater than it was in March, 1933, low point of the depression and that factory payrolls are $124,000,000 more weekly.

Board of Education Committee To Meet Next Week.

Textbooks by Dr. Harold Rugg, which were recently charged with teaching subversive philosophies, will be re-examined "sometime next week" by the professional textbook committee of the State Board of Education, M. E. Thompson, assistant state school superintendent, said yesterday.

Thompson said he was dispatching a letter to B. M. Grier, of Athens, chairman, asking that he call a meeting of the committee next week to prepare a report for submission to the State Board of Education the following week. Thompson did not specify the time or place of the committee meeting.

The textbooks were attacked by members of patriotic organizations and citizens on the grounds that they allegedly espoused Communism and Nazism. Dr. Rugg appeared at a public hearing to defend his books, and the committee was authorized to re-examine them.

Mrs. Barnitz Writes Book On Little Fairy

Story of 'Bippy,' With Author's Illustrations, Goes on Sale.

"Bippy," the elfin-like character and smallest of all other "Bippies," has come to life. "Bippy," a fairy tale, written and illustrated by Mrs. Elizabeth Downing Barnitz, of Atlanta, is now on sale here, as well as "Bippy" dolls, designed as playmates for boys and girls between 5 and 8 years of age.

Mrs. Barnitz is the daughter of the late Walter Downing, well-known Atlanta architect, and Mrs. Downing. Her father, she says, knew all about the Irish "little people" and in spite of his apparent sternness, was quite friendly with elves, fairies and all the other invisible folk of childhood.

It was from him she discovered the fairy world from which she drew her characters for this, her first book, she said.

As a member of the Studio Club, Mrs. Barnitz, who always had sketched for her four children to illustrate the stories she told them, decided to write one of her original fairy tales as the contribution required of each member of the club.

Dolls have been made of "Bippy," the principal character, and Mrs. Barnitz herself designed the first doll of her brainchild and it was used by the manufacturers as the model.

Mrs. Barnitz graduated from Washington Seminary and attended Shorter College in Rome, Ga. She is the mother of Dawn, Downing, Nell and Harry Barnitz Jr. Downing, 10, is a character in the book, the boy named "Jon" who plays with "Bippy" and goes with him on a trip to Santa Claus land.

FIRST BOOK—Mrs. Elizabeth Downing Barnitz, whose first book, a fairy tale entitled "Bippy," has been published.

A Meal in Itself—This Sunday Night Salad!

Star it on your buffet supper table—serve it when "the crowd" drops in. This dish is always a treat when made with tender, full-flavored Mueller's Elbow Macaroni.

BUFFET MACARONI SALAD
1 pkg. Mueller's Elbow Macaroni
1 cup cold cooked meat, diced (chicken, pork, veal, lamb)
Mayonnaise (seasoned with onion-juice, if desired)
1 cup celery, diced
1 cup American cheese, cubed
1 pint tomato, cut in small pieces
Radishes
Salt and pepper to taste

Cook Mueller's Elbow Macaroni as directed. This takes only 9 minutes because tenderness is made into Mueller's—it doesn't have to be cooked in. Chill macaroni—then mix thoroughly with enough mayonnaise to moisten. Mix in meat, diced celery, cubed cheese and pimiento. Season to taste. Place in salad bowl and garnish with radish roses. Serves 6.

This salad may be made hours ahead of time and left in the refrigerator until needed. Mueller's never gets sticky or soggy while standing. Due to an exclusive "quick-dried" process, Mueller's cooks in half the time—bulks up more in cooking. Mueller's delicate flavor blends perfectly with other ingredients—an excellent solution to the "leftovers" problem. Stock up with Mueller's Elbow Macaroni today!

CHICAGO, Oct. 9.—(AP)—With grain trade bogged down by uncertainty of commercial and speculative investors to take market action beyond barest requirements, wheat prices steadied today in a dull session.

Uncertainty regarding international affairs and concern over possibility of deeper United States involvement continued to chill commercial and professional transactions were governed almost entirely by the government-dominated domestic supply situation.

After showing gains ranging up to 1-2 cent and losses of as much as 3-8 cent at various times, wheat closed unchanged to 3-8 higher compared with yesterday. Corn was 1-8 off to 1-4 up. Oats 1-4 to 1-2 lower; soybeans 5-8 to 1 cent higher; rye 1-4 to 1-2 up and lard 2 to 7 higher.

A Tokyo report credited Japanese interests with the statement that elimination of the United States subsidy on Pacific wheat and flour exports to China may cause no important decline in business because even without the subsidy American flour is cheaper than the Japanese produce in the Chinese market.

OF HEAVEN'S BENEDICTION

By MARGARET GORMAN NICHOLS.

Julian and Brooke Plan a Sunday Drive To Barney's Place in the Country

SYNOPSIS. Brooke Carter, her mother dead, her father remarried, quits as secretary to a Chatham, N. H., doctor and goes to New York as secretary-companion to Mrs. Kingsbury, whom she had met while the wealthy old lady was boarding four years ago in New York. She has been engaged four years and who has made himself valuable in business to Barney Glass since he finished college three years ago. Jim Bartlett, a drawing Southern, Rod's college roommate, who is now an accountant, hesitatingly tells Brooke about Irene Davis, a rich divorced woman, years older than Rod, and when Brooke meets her at Barney Glass' cocktail party she knows Irene loves Rod. She also meets there Julian Carlton, a handsome young lawyer. Rod wires Brooke one evening as she waits to dine with him that he and Irene are married and sailing for Hawaii. Brooke agrees to go to Hawaii with Mrs. Kingsbury and on the ship Tony Morrison falls in love with her. Mrs. Brooke meets her mother in Los Angeles. She is Irene, and Rod is with her. Brooke loves him, but tells him she doesn't love him. Mrs. Kingsbury dies at sea and her niece, Jessica Forbes, borrows money for Brooke's return fare. At her Los Angeles hotel is a letter from Tony saying he is going on a long cruise. In New York, Jim tells her he is marrying Jean Carver. Glass gets Brooke a job with Wilson Stone, a young architect with a wealthy wife. Carlton takes her to dinner. NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

INSTALLMENT XXVII. He sat back, smiling. "I'm a very uncomplicated person. It is you who are complicated. But while I'm not glad the old lady died, I am glad that you were set free. It would have been very bad for you to live with her, to cater to it. It would have destroyed something in you I like, burned it out." Then he asked, "Would you like to see Barney in the role of country squire? Will you motor up with me Sunday afternoon?"

She said she would. Was Julian Carlton friend or foe? Still she did not know. One moment she detected an extraordinary kindness and broad understanding in him and felt drawn close to him, the next moment his mocking charm angered her and put her on guard.

Julian looked at her rather severely. "Do you wonder why I'm fond of Barney? Because he's real, because he makes no pretenses and he can talk about anything."

"You don't have to defend him to me. I'm fond of him."

"Perhaps I was defending him. I've had to before and I do it vehemently when I have to. There's a balcony over there. Do you like views of cities from balconies?"

They were alone on a balcony, looking down on twinkling lights in a pit of darkness. The air was cool and fresh and even in the heart of the great city was bringing-ing with it from fields and flowers an early summer essence.

Julian, looking straight ahead, breathed deeply. "Nostalgia? I feel it, too. Nearly all of us here in New York are transplanted. I grew up in Maine. We come here to conquer and get swallowed up. She had not come to conquer. He said, "When we go back into the restaurant, shield your eyes. The lights will hurt them."

His unexpected thoughtfulness. They went back to dance, to dine, to talk, and it was past midnight when he said a rather serious "good-night, Brooke," and uncovered his fair head a moment before the elevator operator closed the door upon him.

Brooke went into her room slowly and slowly pulled off her blue turban. I like him, she thought, I like him. She was certain now, though she was almost afraid to think him. When they met on Sunday, would she sense his silent laughter again?

The next day was auspicious in that a client came to Wilson Stone's office. And it was the day that Jim and Jean were to be married, Brooke thought many times that day.

There was a letter for her that evening, which had been sent first to New Hampshire. It was from Ellen.

Reading it quickly, she learned that Mrs. Kingsbury's faithful maid was in no hurry to leave the beautiful islands in the Pacific, and that other than gifts of money to old friends and a thousand dollars to Ellen, Mrs. Kingsbury had left her entire estate to Jessica Forbes' little daughters. It was like coming to the end of one of the mystery stories Mrs. Kingsbury had loved. Brooke thought, to know at last the contents of her will. But why should Mrs. Kingsbury have willed her anything?

Sunday had begun clear and sunny. But in the afternoon when Julian's beige coupe was hurrying over the highway to Connecticut, overcast skies forebode a storm.

"Perhaps we'll make it to Barney's before it breaks," Julian said.

Brooke, who looked her best in a printed frock with a jacket and the becoming blue turban, glanced sideways and smiled. "I doubt if the traffic officers along here will be as lenient as our Mr. Ben up in Chatham."

"I keep you on the defensive, don't I?"

His face told her nothing. "Yes, you do, Julian."

"Perhaps," he said soberly, "I'll tell you why someday. Perhaps I'll never tell you, and went on from there telling her of an unusual and interesting case that had come to his attention recently of missing heirs and unclaimed wealth. When Brooke asked if Barney knew they were coming, he said, "I called him. I doubt if he has other guests today. As a matter of fact, he doesn't intend to do any large scale entertaining until August. I may miss it. I may be in Maine on my vacation."

Brooke said, "someone told me you were an inveterate traveler." Rod had told her. . . . Her knowledge of him seemed to amuse him. "Not this year. I've decided to be the playmate of my sister's five little demons for a week and to spend my remaining two weeks with friends in a more remote part of Maine. Incidentally, I'll be driving up and if you'd like a ride . . ."

She said thoughtfully, "I should be going home for a weekend soon."

Glancing up at the sky, she saw the sun disappear behind fretting dark clouds. "It is June," she thought. Six months since I came. Six months since I came into thousands of miles. . . . Where is Tony this afternoon? Where is Rod? She closed her eyes and when she opened them again large drops of rain on the windshield obscured the view.

"Put up the window," Julian said.

She ran it up just in time for a torrential downpour accompanied by sharp lightning and crashing thunder followed. When Julian pulled the car to the side of the road and stopped, she knew it was because he could no longer see.

"Not afraid, are you Brooke?" "My mother always said that good people aren't afraid of storms."

"I think our mothers were very much alike," he said, glancing out. "My parents were divorced and we children, four of us, spent our time shuttling back and forth between them. Two years of my boyhood were spent on a farm in Kentucky, which had been left to my mother and which she tried to manage alone. She was quite alone then. Her older children had been sent to various schools, and I, the youngest, went with her. One of my most vivid memories is of her shooting a chicken hawk. She was an excellent shot. Knowing her, knowing what courage she put into that farm to make it pay so that my father, married again and prospering, would not have to pay her alimony. I learned to have a great sympathy as well as admiration for courageous women. She tried to be a farmer when she was educated to be a scientist. She died when I was 14."

"You have sympathy only for courageous women?" Brooke asked.

He did not look at her. "Yes. Because courageous women, who ask for nothing because of their sex, fail more frequently than the parasites of their sex. Fail with men, with love."

Your Horoscope for Today

By ALICE DENTON JENNINGS, Noted Atlanta Astrologist.

What today means to you if you were born between:

March 21st and April 19th (ARIES)—The day favors more attention to necessary affairs, and ideas that have been hanging fire for some time. The day favors using diplomacy around older people. The evening favors domestic affairs.

April 20th and May 20th (TAURUS)—Before 12:41 noon does not especially favor making changes. Your plans may meet opposition. Between 12:41 noon and 6:15 p. m. favors attending to private matters and business. After 6:15 p. m. favors social contacts and dealings with women.

May 21st and June 20th (GEMINI)—The entire day (until 10:30 p. m.) favors accomplishments of a stable nature. Quick action, creative work, writing, commercial transactions should be highly stimulated to your profit.

June 21st and July 22nd (CANCER)—Before 8:33 a. m. and after 4:14 p. m. are the better parts of the day. Before 8:33 a. m. you may turn your attention to matters of a serious nature that have heavy responsibilities attached to them. After 4:14 p. m. conferences or agreements can be made with great rapidity.

July 23rd and Aug. 22nd (LEO)—The better vibrations of the day operate between 8:33 a. m. and 4:14 p. m. An excellent period for undertaking new plans and carrying out old ideas. After 4:14 p. m. by being alone, or at least holding your feelings in check, more will be accomplished.

Aug. 23rd and Sept. 22nd (VIRGO)—An excellent day for matters pertaining to the general public, writing, professional people and politics. Some excellent results should be attained today. The best aspects of the day operate previous to 3:30 p. m.

Sept. 23rd and Oct. 22nd (LIBRA)—Before 10:50 a. m. drastic tempers may be in evidence, and the period does not favor seeking co-operation from those who have a determined outlook. After 10:50 a. m. favors general business, professional and educational interests.

Oct. 23rd and Nov. 21st (SCORPIO)—During the entire day and until 5:07 p. m. financial efforts and actual finances may be wasted if you give in to a feeling of too lavish spending. After 5:07 p. m. favors social affairs.

Nov. 22nd and Dec. 21st (SAGITTARIUS)—The entire day through 6:28 p. m. favors expanding your sphere of action. Benefits may be derived through the advice of others, financial dealings and legal decisions.

Dec. 22nd and Jan. 19th (CAPRICORN)—The period previous to 1 p. m. favors matters of ordinary importance along domestic, business and personal lines. After 1 p. m. does not appear to favor new or important undertakings.

Jan. 20th and Feb. 18th (AQUARIUS)—This should be a favorable day for grasping opportunities and making advances. Your efficiency should be increased.

Feb. 19th and March 20th (PISCES)—You may not find it easy to come to agreements previous to 1 p. m., so care should be given to travel, business and living. After 1:09 p. m. favors private affairs, communications and things that have been hard to complete.

Before you go to the game—place your wand at The Constitution.

MUSIC HALL—Bob Burns will help 12-year-old Betty Brewer and her brother and sister, Sonny and Lennie, along the road to success by presenting them in the Music Hall over WSB at 8 o'clock tonight. Walter Brennan, hot trumpeter Wingy Manone, and opera star Duseolina Glanini will also be guests on the program that regularly features Dorothy Lamour, the Music Mads and John Scott Trotter's orchestra. Betty Brewer made her movie debut in "Rangers of Fortune," which has just been released. Her history reads like a fairy tale, but it is absolutely authentic. Dorothy Lamour will sing three new numbers and John Scott Trotter's orchestra will play "Begin the Beguine." As a reward for their superlative harmonizing in accompaniment parts, the Music Mads will be featured all by themselves in "The Ferryboat Serenade."

MUSICAL—Musical Americana, with Raymond Paige and his orchestra, moves into a new spot with the broadcast to be heard over WSB at 9:30 o'clock tonight. Kate Smith, "First Lady of Radio," will be the guest star of the new series. The program previously was heard on Tuesday nights.

Miss Smith makes few guest appearances and this will be one of the few, and her first of this season. Kate will be heard in three songs with Paige's orchestra. She will sing "Maybe," "You're Lonely and I'm Lonely," and "My Buddy," the last named being programmed especially for her admirers among war veterans.

GOOD NEWS—Fanny Brice, who contends that a "kind of Jimmy" Crickett—Baby Snooks struggles goes on inside of everyone," will frolic again as Baby Snooks in a battle with Daddy on Good News, to be heard over WSB at 7 o'clock tonight.

Musical highlights of the program will include a duet by Dick Powell and Mary Martin and a current hit tune by Meredith Willson's orchestra.

Cotton Stamps Are Approved For Muscogee

Total of 13,492 in Columbus Area Will Be Benefited.

By GLADSTONE WILLIAMS, Staff Correspondent.
WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—Secretary of Agriculture Claude R. Wickard today announced the inclusion of Columbus, Ga., and the rest of Muscogee county in the cotton stamp plan to move cotton goods to public assistance families through the normal channels of trade.

The Department of Agriculture revealed estimates showing that 4,086 families, representing 13,492 persons, receive public aid in the Columbus area. Under the plan, all will be eligible to participate in the program, which is expected to begin operation within a month and will be on a voluntary basis.

In recommending selection of the Columbus area, representatives of the Surplus Marketing Administration of the Department of Agriculture reported that complete co-operation had been assured by state and local public officials, welfare officials, and by the retail dry goods merchants and bankers who will be concerned with the administration of the program. Dry goods merchants, they said, have agreed to carry out a definite campaign to increase the consumption of cotton goods among all consumers similar to distribution efforts of grocers in cities where the food stamp plan is in operation.

Under the plan of cotton stamp distribution to be used in the Columbus area, eligible families will be given the opportunity to buy green colored cotton stamps with a minimum and maximum limits, and to receive free $1 worth of brown surplus cotton stamps for each $1 worth of green stamps purchased. The purchased green stamps are to guarantee the continuance of the family's normal cotton goods buying, while the free brown surplus stamps will be used to obtain additional cotton goods.

The cotton stamp plan, like the food stamp program, provides for the movement of surpluses entirely through the normal channels of trade, it was explained.

Sabotage, Death Plots Laid to Harry Bridges

Evidence in Justice Department Files, House Told.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—(UP) Harry Bridges, west coast CIO maritime leader, was accused by Representative C. Arthur Anderson, Democrat, Missouri, from the House floor today of having once conspired to commit the crime of murder and plotted sabotage of one of our largest liners in the Panama Canal.

Anderson read into the record what he said was a transcript of evidence contained in Justice Department files to support his charges.

THE NEW DE SOTO—The De Soto for 1941 has made its Atlanta debut with more than the usual new features. In addition to body and interior improvements, it has added the new fluid drive, simplimatic transmission and safety rim.

Ex-Official of Laurens Is Pardoned by Rivers
Joel M. Cannon Jr., former Laurens county commissioner who was convicted of "passing a worthless check," was granted a full pardon by Governor Rivers yesterday.

The pardon order, which expunged a 12 months' sentence and a $1,000 fine imposed in the city court of Macon in January, 1939, said that it appeared "the full burden of responsibility" rested upon M. N. Spivey, of Dublin, instead of Cannon, adding that Spivey was under sentence in the case.

1941 De Soto Appears With New Features

Fluid Drive, Simplimatic Transmission, Safety Rim Are Added.

The 1941 De Soto, which recently made its appearance in Atlanta, has added many new features this year, among which are the two greatest improvements since the self-starter.

These are fluid drive and simplimatic transmission. Sharing the spotlight of improvements are the low-swinging rocket bodies, increased roominess, two-tone interiors, greater horsepower, three new models, and an exclusive Chrysler Corporation development called safety rim which prevents a flat tire from being thrown off the rim.

Fluid drive and simplimatic transmission provides a new kind of performance which banishes gear shifting and clutch operation, for all normal driving and makes jerky starts or engine stalling impossible. Fluid drive provides a smooth flow of power from engine to rear wheels, engineers explain. The oil acts as a cushion to take up all shocks of suddenly applied power, so that it is impossible to jerk the car in starting or to stall the engine.

Simplimatic transmission, comparison to fluid drive, is the responsible for delivering full range of DeSoto's 105 horsepower performance with a minimum of gear shift.

Second only to the performance feature is the low-swinging body of the new rocket bodies and their comfort and convenience features. Designers aimed at smart luxury as the DeSoto keynote, and left nothing undone to achieve this goal. Even the instrument panel is two-toned to harmonize with upholstery and trim. All four-door sedans have deeply recessed rear seat arm rests to provide real armchair comfort.

Leading the improvements in engine and chassis is a new 6.8 to 1 compression ratio cylinder head which increases horsepower to 105; new main bearings with three to five times longer life than those formerly used, and an exclusive Chrysler Corporation development called safety rim.

Excess Profits Tax Bill Signed by President
WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—(UP) President Roosevelt has signed the excess profits tax-plant amortization bill, designed to speed rearmament, prevent growth of "war millionaires," and raise $1,000,000,000 annually of new revenue, the White House revealed today.

The second revenue act of 1940 imposes levies ranging from 25 to 50 per cent on excess profits, authorizes five-year amortization of new plant facilities constructed for defense-material production, and suspends profits limitations placed on Army and Navy contracts by the Vinson-Trammell act.

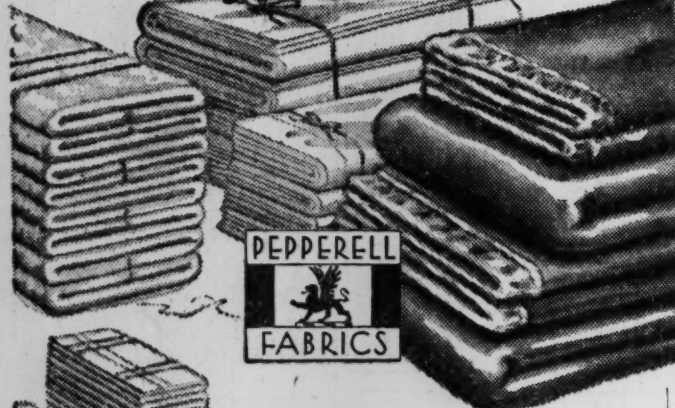

30 Indicted Officers Suspended in Mobile
MOBILE, Ala., Oct. 9.—(AP)—The Mobile city commission decided late today to suspend indicted police officers for 30 days pending study of their cases after three circuit judges had upheld the petition of Detective Richard J. Lincoln that under the Mobile civil service act, a longer suspension was illegal.

These developments came after federal authorities had placed 14 additional policemen under arrest on charges of conspiring with bootleggers to violate the internal revenue laws by selling untaxed liquor. Today's arrests bring to 30 the total number of policemen in federal custody under a blanket indictment.

TERRACING DEMONSTRATION
EATONTON, Ga., Oct. 9.—A demonstration of terrace maintenance will be held tomorrow on the farm of Frank T. Denham. Instruction in plowing of terraces and maintaining their height for water control will be given.
